

Capital Mourns Death Of Secretary Of War James W. Good

ROCKNE USED IRISH TO FIGHT, ITALIANS TO PLAY—ROGERS

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 19.—Knute Rockne started his big game in Chicago Saturday with his Irish team, but after California made a touchdown, he rushed in his eye-talians.

With the Irish eye-fighting and the eye-talians playing football, there is no beating that team.

They still call it football, and there hasn't been a goal kicked since Indian Jim Thorpe could stand in the center of a football field and place a dropkick through the president of the university's window.

While we are decorating pilots that make fast records in a wonderfully equipped plane, stop and give a great big hand to this one in Seattle, who with two Boy Scouts aboard, made a forced landing on the top of a department store roof and saved all hands.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Almost unbelievable speed is being made with some of the cross-continental air mail these days. Last night, Mrs. Jacob Rentz, of Winter avenue received an airmail special delivery letter, that had been mailed in Los Angeles, California, Saturday night. The Los Angeles postmark was November 16, 10 p. m., and the New Castle postmark, when the letter was received was November 18, 6 p. m., making the total time between mailing in Los Angeles and arrival here, 44 hours.

One of Pa New's scouts reports this morning that another well is being drilled at the New Wilmington Water Works, on the top of Furnace Hill. The additional well is for the purpose of supplying more water for the college town, especially to add to service in time of fire need.

Recurring emphasis is given here time and time again that drivers from Ohio seem to figure in more serious accidents in Lawrence County than Pennsylvanians. The system of examination of drivers, and examination of cars in Ohio, must be very lax. Many of the accidents that occur on the New Bedford road, west of this city, are occasioned by Ohio drivers. The state of Ohio should take steps to license and examine drivers, and also to provide some method of inspection of cars that would bring about greater safety.

Another slight earthquake shock has been reported from the Atlantic seaboard. The quake was noticeable on Monday afternoon in the New England area. Reminds of the slight quake that was felt in this district last August.

Not many flocks of turkeys are to be seen on Lawrence County farms. Looks like most of the Thanksgiving day birds for Lawrence County tables will come from some other districts.

Capital In Mourning Over Death Of War Secretary
Last Night

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The capital was in mourning today for James W. Good, of Iowa.

Tomorrow, state services will be held in the East Room of the White House for the Secretary of War, who died last evening after a valiant, but vain fight against the ravages of peritonitis which followed an appendicitis operation. All the honors that official and diplomatic Washington can pay will be bestowed upon the dead cabinet officer.

Burial in Iowa.
Burial will be in the family plot at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Friday. Mrs. Good, the widow, plans to take the body out of Washington on the Capital Limited Wednesday afternoon. Good's death had been a foregone conclusion for hours. Although he fought desperately, the attending physicians lost all hope Sunday night, and from then on the end was only a matter of hours. He died peacefully, for he had been in a state of complete coma for some time.

It was at the suggestion of President and Mrs. Hoover that Good will be accorded a state funeral. Immediately upon receipt of the flash of his death, they motored to Walter Reed hospital to console Mrs. Good and to suggest that services be conducted in the east room. Formal notification has gone out over the signature of Secretary of State Stimson to the highest officials, diplomatic corps, congress and the supreme court.

JAMES W. GOOD

Military Escort.
Hurley has taken charge of arrangements. A full military escort will accompany the body to the White House and later to the station. The senate and the house each will appoint committees of seven members to act as honor escort on the journey home. Flags on all government buildings were at half mast.

Mrs. Good was holding up fairly well under the strain. She had known that death was certain and the shock thus had been lessened. Her two sons will accompany her back to Iowa. Good was taken to the hospital a (Continued On Page Two)

SPECULATE ON SUCCESSOR TO JAS. W. GOOD

Capital Already Sees Several Possible Appointees For Cabinet Place

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—There was widespread speculation in the capital today over the successor that President Hoover will name to succeed Secretary of War James W. Good who died last night.

It is the first cabinet vacancy of the Hoover administration and comes within the first year of the new administration.

Inevitably, the name of Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general, was widely discussed, for Donovan was accounted a certain cabinet choice in the early days of the cabinet speculation before inauguration.

For a reason never fully explained, Mr. Hoover passed over the brilliant New Yorker and formed his cabinet without him. Donovan was offered the governor generalship of the Philippines, which has since gone to Dwight W. Davis of Missouri, but refused.

President Hoover's failure to appoint Col. Donovan, one of his closest campaign advisers, to a cabinet post was a severe disappointment to the colonel's friends, many of whom felt that, in view of the nature of the last campaign, a Catholic should have been included in the president's official family.

Apparently, Colonel Donovan's being left out caused no rift in the close friendship existing between them for Donovan has been and still is a frequent White House visitor.

The name of Col. Patrick J. Hurley, now assistant secretary of war, also figures in the speculation today. Hurley, an Oklahoman, was one of the early Hoover men in the southwest, and is considered to have made a good record in his present post. With the death of Good, Col. Hurley becomes acting secretary of war, to serve until a successor is appointed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The first direct word from Alaska as to how Carl Ben Eielson, veteran Polar pilot, became lost in a blizzard while on a rescue mission, was revealed here today.

In a radio message sent from Teller, Alaska, at 1 a. m. today, Frank Dorbandt, pilot of the plane which accompanied Eielson, Eielson and his mechanic, on the flight, declared that "Eielson sighted by natives 60 miles off North Cape."

This was interpreted as meaning that Eielson was flying at the time and that his plane had not been wrecked in a forced landing, as at first reported.

It was considered probable that Eielson and his mechanic had landed and were waiting for the blizzard to blow over. There was sufficient food in the plane to sustain the two fliers and warmth could be obtained from the motor, it was said.

District Attorney Elder Bryan Charges Law Enforcement Agencies Do Not Co-Operate

Charges of a lack of co-operation upon the part of the various law enforcement agencies of the county were made today by District Attorney J. Elder Bryan.

The charges were the culmination of a series of events stretching back over the past three years and which he believes should be brought to the attention of the general public.

In his statement the district attorney said:

Bryan's Statement
"With but a few more weeks left of my term as district attorney there are a number of facts and conditions concerning which the public should know. They concern the condition of law enforcement in this county for some time which are not good, and which should be corrected."

"The various other law enforcing agencies of the city and county, and this includes the city police department, the sheriff's office and the various constables, have consistently shown a lack of co-operation with the office of the district attorney."

"Crimes have been committed in the outlying districts of the county and we have not been notified. The latest occurrence of this kind was the killing of George Marcotta at Carbon on Sunday afternoon. Before we were notified, the alleged murderer had been placed in the county jail and we are now faced with the necessity of digging out evidence on a case which has gone cold."

"Nor is this the only incident of the kind. Cases of driving while intoxicated are being settled in the city police court and in the offices of burgesses in boros. The sheriff has had information on crimes which he has gone out and investigated without asking our assistance, and the constables have been operating almost entirely on their own."

"I believe that the people of Lawrence County are interested more in results than they are in who arrests

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Congress today settled down for a long-drawn-out battle over the tariff following the action of Republican insurgents in rejecting the proposal of the Republican "young guard" to jam the Hawley-Smoot bill through in the special session by wholesale adoption of the 1922 legislative program.

With the fight certain to go over into the regular session, passage by January 1 became the new goal of the most optimistic advocates of early action. Some Democratic leaders predicted the bill will not be completed before February.

The Democratic-insurgent Republican coalition apparently will continue to rewrite the bill in the future just as it has done since the tariff fight opened.

Tribute To Good
Sincere but brief tribute was paid the memory of Secretary of War Good, whose death last night cut short the special three-hour night session before any action was reached on the cotton schedule under consideration. Committees of both branches of Congress will attend funeral services of the dead war secretary. But his passing will have little apparent effect on the straining, overworked Senate.

Although the coalition is split on the sugar schedule and has refused to attempt to bind its members to a definite program on tariff rates, leaders predicted a "meeting of (Continued On Page Two)

RAILROADS TO CARRY ON

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The great railroad systems of the country, which have annual expenditures of about $1,000,000,000 for new equipment and maintenance, pledged themselves today to proceed "full steam ahead" with all improvements and purchases, as a part of the national coordination of business which President Hoover is organizing to offset the slackening effect of the recent stock market debacle.

This announcement followed a two hour conference which Mr. Hoover held today with the heads of a dozen great eastern trunk-lines, who are enroute to the meeting of the American Railway Association in Chicago on Friday. The details of the railroads' cooperation with the administration will be worked out there in conjunction with the system that were not represented at today's White House Conference.

URGES PROGRAM OF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A series of business clinics intended to provide an antidote for the attack of commercial colic brought on by too much stock Gorging, opened at the White House this morning with President Hoover occupying the role of chief diagnostician.

The conference, first of a series that will bring every phase of the nation's business activity under rapid scrutiny during the next ten days, brought a dozen railroad leaders to the White House to discuss with Mr. Hoover their problems, and to hear from him what measures he believes should be taken at this time to restore the public confidence that is so essential to prosperity.

Government Points Way
The president pointed out to his guests that the federal government already has shown the way—by decreeing a material reduction in personal and corporate income taxes, and by deciding to enormously increase the public buildings program in the emergency.

The cumulative effect of these federal steps is bound to be beneficial, in Mr. Hoover's opinion, and he suggested to the railroad presidents that they can contribute greatly to the result by following the government's example in their own building and expansion activities.

The railroads' annual bill for new equipment and improvements is approximately $1,000,000,000 in ordinarily good times. Due to the collapse in security prices and a slight falling off of business many railroads have been curtailing somewhat their equipment purchases and expansion plans.

Such retrenching at a time like this cannot but help to contribute to the general decline of business, Mr. Hoover pointed out, for the railroads are the greatest users of steel, cement, and other commodities, to say nothing of labor, and what the railroads are doing is reflecting in almost every phase of the nation's business activity.

Appeal To Carry On
The president's appeal to the railroad leaders, therefore, was to "carry on" confidently in this present situation, and increase rather than diminish their commitments for progress and expansion. Such a policy inevitably would be reflected in the general business structure it was pointed out. Around the president's conference (Continued On Page Two)

TWO UNDER ARREST FAIL TO GET BAIL

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—Completion of the audit of the accounts paid for tubercular cattle slaughter by the Bureau of Animal Industry in the Department of Agriculture revealed total defalcations of approximately $129,000, officials announced today. No further defalcations will be discovered, it is believed.

Guy H. Thomas, a former employee of the bureau, and Charles C. Stark, both members of a local real estate firm, are in the Dauphin county jail charged with theft. At a preliminary hearing last week, bail for each was fixed at $20,000 and neither has been able to furnish that amount.

The thefts extended over a period of two years and were made possible by the infusion of fake vouchers in those sent regularly to the auditor general's department for payment.

Thomas and Stark are alleged to have forged names of fake payees to each check issued for the vouchers and to have cashed many of them in Harrisburg.

Completion of the audit does not mean an end to the investigation now under way, officials asserted. An attempt is being made to ascertain if any other state employees, postal workers or private citizens are involved in the swindle.

STATE SERVICES IN WHITE HOUSE FOR SECRETARY

week ago today, operation disclosed that he was suffering from acute, gangrenous, perforating appendicitis. The appendix was lodged so far down in the pelvic region that it required an hour and a half for an operation which usually requires only fifteen minutes, and because of its rupture a local peritonitis prevailed at the time.

The best medical skill in the country was employed in the effort to save his life, but conditions and his age—he was 63—were against him.

Good is the second secretary of war ever to die in office, the other one being John A. Rawlins in the Grant administration, and the first cabinet officer to die in office since Secretary of Agriculture Henry W. Wallace, early in the Coolidge administration.

The dead war secretary had to his credit a long career of public service. For 14 years—from 1909 to 1923—he served in the house of representatives, being at the time of his voluntary retirement, to resume practice of law one of the outstanding Republican leaders. As a politician he had few equals, successfully conducting vital portions of both the Coolidge and Hoover campaigns. Mr. Hoover prevailed upon him to return to public life and enter the cabinet.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by his sons, James William, Jr., 19, and Robert Edmund, 12.

For nearly a quarter of a century "Jim" Good, as he was known to his political intimates, occupied a position of prominence in Republican affairs.

He came to Washington 20 years ago, in 1909, as a new congressman from the Cedar Rapids district of Iowa. His geniality made him a popular figure in the house and ability, as the years rolled on, elevated him to a position of real prominence in the lower chamber.

When he retired from congress voluntarily in 1921 he was chairman of the committee on appropriations and one of the powerful little clique of Republican leaders that really ruled the house with strong discipline. Throughout his congressional career he was a prominent figure in the councils of his party, and a strong party disciplinarian.

Good practiced law before his election to congress in 1908, having an office in Cedar Rapids, his home. After his retirement in 1921 he resumed his law practice, but this time in Chicago. He headed the firm of Good, Childs, Bobb & Westcott, and resided in Evanston.

He became one of the original Hoover men in the last campaign, and was persuaded by the now president to forsake his lucrative practice in order to become one of the pre-convention managers. As such he projected not a few of the delegates at the Kansas City convention.

When Hoover was nominated, Good was prevailed upon to take over Republican headquarters in Chicago, and throughout the colorful campaign he directed Republican strategy all over the turbulent west. Hoover's success, both before and after the convention, in the disputed agricultural region of the Mississippi valley was credited in no small part to Good's shrewdness and sagacity.

It was only natural, therefore, that after the election last November his chief should ask him to continue in the service. He was offered the secretaryship of war and accepted. It was regarded as one of the few "political appointments" to the cabinet made by Mr. Hoover.

In the cabinet, Good continued as one of President Hoover's close confidants of political advisers. In addition to his regular cabinet duties, he assumed the task of becoming the White House liaison officer with congress, for which his own long service in the house peculiarly fitted him. He spent much time at the capitol.

Good was born September 24, 1866, at Cedar Rapids. He graduated from Coe college, in his home town, and then went to the University of Michigan, where he took a law degree. After graduation he returned to Cedar Rapids and started practicing. His first public office was as city attorney of Cedar Rapids.

He married Lucy Deacon of Cedar Rapids and she, with two sons, James William, Jr., and Robert Edmund, survive him.

"The Good family was of German descent. The first record of the family in America shows that one Loren Guth came to Philadelphia from Germany in 1738. Later the family located on Jordan creek, Lehigh, Pa. Descendants of the family joined the westward trek as so many Pennsylvanians did in later years, and in process of time the family name became Good instead of Guth.

table were represented all of the major roads of the east and some of the west. The dozen executives represented not only the major lines, but through subsidiaries and branch lines, nearly the entire railroad world east of the Mississippi river.

Among them were: P. C. Crowley, president, New York Central; R. H. Aisbitt, president, American Railway Association; Daniel Willard, president, Baltimore and Ohio; Fairfax Harrison, president, Southern railroad; J.

J. Pelley, president, New York New Haven and Hartford; A. T. Dice, president, Philadelphia and Reading; W. W. Atterbury, president, Pennsylvania system; J. J. Bernier, president, Chesapeake and Ohio; F. W. Sargent, president, Chicago and Northwestern; Jeremiah Milbank, Southern railroad; and L. F. Loree, president, Delaware and Hudson.

Going to Meeting

These executives together with many others, are now enroute to the annual meeting of the American Railway association in Chicago, so that they may go directly from the White House with Mr. Hoover's program and lay it before virtually every railroad executive of consequence in the country. In that sense, today's meeting was held at a most propitious time.

Mr. Hoover's advice to the railroad men to carry on with confidence and to accelerate their building and expansion plan is, in a general sense, what he plans to tell the other Washington groups who are to come to Washington to confer with him during the next week.

He will tell them that from the government's own knowledge of conditions, the basic business structure of the country is sound and healthy, that there exists no need for doubts or fears and that if the business leaders of the country will keep their heads and look forward instead of backward, the effect of the recent stock market debacle can be speedily overcome.

Government

Varying in degree, according to his audiences, this is the message that the president plans to hammer home while at the same time furnishing business an example by having the government itself take the lead in recuperative and stabilizing activities.

The administration's decision to go ahead with a greatly increased building program is by itself no small gesture.

It will throw more than $200,000,000 into the general business pot in the immediate future.

Congress has already authorized the program but it had been planned to go leisurely at the task, appropriating relatively small amounts from time to time, for construction of needed public buildings in and out of Washington.

Now, the regular session of Congress that starts two weeks hence will be asked to appropriate the funds necessary to speed up the work.

Hoover hopes to point general business and industry out of the heavy ground it has been treading since excessive speculation blew the lid off the stock exchange last month.

Young Guard Hit

The announcement of Senator Borah (R) of Idaho the insurgents would have nothing to do with the "young guard" dealt that ambitious organization of 24 of the younger members of the Senate a heavy blow. It is now expected to confine its tariff work to opposing adjournment plans and a defense of the existing industrial tariff level.

A dinner meeting of the new bloc, scheduled at the home of Senator Allen (R) of Kansas last night, was postponed.

The Senate continued to work on the cotton textile schedule with efforts of the finance committee to aid a "sick industry" affected by the attack of progressives upon the treatment accorded labor in southern mills.

Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana was leading a fight to prevent increases in tariff rates on the ground the manufacturers have not given labor fair treatment.

During the textile debate Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts told the Senate that the return of the long skirt promises to save many manufacturers from bankruptcy.

"The result was that we went into the trial of the case unprepared."

"It is time that the law enforcement agencies of the city and county go together. Any arrest which will result in a trial in the county courts should be brought to the attention of the district attorney immediately. When a search is being made the district attorney should be notified so that the county detective can be sent out on the job."

"The trial of cases depends upon the district attorney. Certainly he should be given every advantage to get the evidence in the case."

"This has not been done and as a result law enforcement in this county has been conducted from too many angles. I have never wanted any credit for arrests or convictions. Neither has the county detective. However, when cases fail, the criticism for the failure has been directed at the district attorney and in justice to the office I am making this statement."

"It is my sincere wish that when the new district attorney goes into office that some working arrangement can be made, whereby all arrests which will lead to county court trials, will be made with the knowledge and co-operation of the district attorney and the county detective."

"Liquor cases and drunken driving cases should not be settled in a city or ward court under the false charge of disorderly conduct."

"There is no animus in my attitude in the matter. It is simply that the citizens of Lawrence county are entitled to a more closely knit enforcement."

STAR LORE

A VALLEY OF INCONCEIVABLE GRANDEUR

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter.

The Great Alpine Valley on the Moon is a startling sight! It cuts through the very heart of the mighty Lunar Alps and is 63 miles long, with a width of from three and one-half to six miles. It unites the Mare Frigoris with the Mare Imbrium. Our Panama Canal is a very small and modest affair compared with it. It is very narrow at the Mare Frigoris, about a mile wide, and gradually widens and deepens as it descends toward the Mare Imbrium, until it opens at the latter, having a width of six miles. The bottom of the valley, at one point lies 12,000 feet below adjoining Alpine summits.

WESTMINSTER ARTISTS
PRESENT FINE PROGRAM

The regular meeting of The Music club took place at The Castleton on Monday evening at 8 with Mrs. Eli Kaplan as hostess.

Professor Alan B. Davis, head of the department of music of Westminster college, was in charge of the program. The first number was given by the string quartet, composed of Professor Eldon Murray, first violin; Professor J. George Lutz, second violin; Donald Cameron, viola, and Frank Colgrave, cello. The quartet showed a fine balance, exquisite beauty of tone and every member a musician, resulting in a lovely ensemble.

Professor Eldon Murray, who was formerly with the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, played his violin and viola numbers with the style of a true artist. His viola dated back to 1737, and his work displayed splendid execution, fine mastery of tone and unusual skill, as only a thorough musician displays. His composition "Lament" was built on a hymn theme and was effectively rendered by the composer, who responded to an encore.

Professor Alan B. Davis, who possesses a fine baritone voice, sang with an understanding of tone production, artistic interpretation and splendid diction. He was ably accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Alan B. Davis.

Miss Dorothy Kirkbride played the difficult "Mephisto's Waltz" by Liszt. This number required a complete mastery of technique and she proved herself a pianist of rare gifts. She was compelled to respond to an encore and played the beautiful "Largo e Mesto (D Minor)" by Beethoven. Miss Kirkbride was also accompanist for the string quartet and violin and viola solos.

Miss Agnes B. Martin of the Westminster faculty composed "Violets Sweet," sung by Mr. Davis and accompanied him in this number.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

TASTE AND EMOTIONALISM

Not long ago, if one had been in a Detroit court, he would have been treated to the spectacle of six jury women kissing a two-time convict and three-time killer, after acquitting him of a charge of attempted robbery. This sort of thing is probably the zero mark in bad taste. But that isn't the most important thing about it. One wonders, or rather one is sure, what the effect of such exhibitions of unwholesome emotionalism is upon the people—especially upon the kind that has little to do but attend sensational trials. Men frequently show as little judgment in jury work as women, but so far few have been seen to kiss the prisoner.

NOISE

A committee is gathering samples of noise in New York streets. A special truck equipped with sensitive apparatus for measuring the intensity of sound is traveling through the streets. A questionnaire will provide information as to the noises which annoy the most people the most of the time. A survey will result in recommendations for legislation. Much noise is useless. Perhaps it can be controlled—and some eliminated.

A complete noise survey would include investigation of the noise of useless conversation. Much talk is mere noise. How many of us stop to think whether we have anything to add to information or entertainment before we join in and have our say?

HOW ABOUT THE NEGRO?

Bishop McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches, speaking at an inter-racial meeting, says "the assumption of superiority of the white man which has no basis whatever in fact," is the chief cause of inter-racial difficulties. "No race in human history," says McConnell, "has ever made, in the same length of time, the strides the negro race has."

There are 300,000 colored people in New York—about 3 per cent of the population.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AT THE END OF THE JOURNEY.

We sat at the end of the journey and talked.
Of all we had done and had seen as we walked,
And strangely enough not a word did we say.
Of the speed we had made as we traveled the way;
And though we were weary and foot-sore and faint,
For the briars and thorns we'd no word of complaint.

We remembered the friends who had spoken goodbye.
We talked of the morning the blue of the sky
The blossoms we'd noticed, the charm of the road,
The noon-time we'd spent at a friendly abode.
But strangely enough not a word did we say
To boast of the distance we'd made in a day.

No word of the hardships we'd faced or the doubt,
And the danger so recently fretted about,
Was uttered at twilight; the long journey's o'er
We remembered the beauty of hillside and shore.
And agreed that the grief of the trip was repaid
By the splendors we'd seen and the friends we had made.

At the end of life's journey when twilight slips down
We'll talk very little I think of renown,
Or of fortunes we've gathered, or strength as its most
And the daring achievements men cherish to boast.
But recalling life's trials we'll tell with a smile
Of the love and the friendships which made them worth while.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:41. Sun rises tomorrow 6:50.

Nine-tenths of those so busy worrying about the hereafter would do better to worry about the here now.

When some of us take our children or maybe grandchildren to school in our automobiles and the school house only a few blocks away our thoughts naturally go back to our school days and wading through the mud for a mile or more to get to the school house. Oh, hum!

An American who speaks seven languages has just been married to a French lady who speaks four. It is felt that the bride still has a slight advantage.

One has to be alert to be civilized. No rest like that of a lazy barbarian.

The Hints and Dints Man Never Wants to live in This Community when Nobody Cares What He Does. When No One cares what you Do you Might As Well Be Dead.

A young man, heir to about one hundred and twenty million real American dollars has married his mother's chamber maid because he is tired of cigarette smoking, cocktail drinking, short skirted society girls, she loves him and not because he has so much dough. That ought to make it about unanimous as far as they are concerned, but it sure gives the society girls a swipe.

There are several reasons why men get mixed up. Some desire a female plaything. Some desire a cook and general servant. And some enjoy a woman's society and wish to make sure of enjoying it permanently. I can understand the man who spends his idle hours at home or takes his wife with him when he goes to games and shows and things like that. He enjoys her and is getting some return for the money he spends to support her. That seems sensible and logical. But I can't for the life of me understand the man who never spends a moment at home except while he is eating or sleeping, and never takes his wife home with him when he leaves home to have a good time. If you don't enjoy having her with you, why spend money on her? Why not get rid of her? It looks foolish to keep on supporting a woman you don't like.

The pessimist doubts the coming of dawn, while the optimist crows before daylight. The question hereafter quoted should have been addressed to the commissary department of some long camp where the cooks ladies out the bread with a hickey that looks like a long handle shovel: "If two or three beans are found floating in the soup, would that be a case for the coroner, or would it just be a case of accidental drowning?"

DON'T APE BIG PAPERS. EDITORIAL ADVISES. Small city newspapers that try to ape the metropolitan dailies overlook one of their strongest points, an editorial in the Oroville (Cal.) Mercury-Register said last week. The editorial, under the head "What's Wrong Here?" follows:

"A little, unassuming college professor walked into a newspaper office in a California town of some 15,000 recently and asked for position on the front page for a story about the Garden Club. 'It can't be done,' he was told. 'We can't publish that type of news on the front page.' 'The little man wasn't satisfied and put this question to the editor: 'If I should elope with one of the members of the Garden Club, would that story make the front page?' 'It most certainly would,' he was told. 'Which news is better for this city, the story of such an elopement, or plans of the Garden Club to beautify the city?' he asked. 'The editor wisely remained silent. 'This incident actually occurred in a city south of here not long ago. Any reader will realize that something was wrong. It is true that a newspaper in a large city, where there are many Garden Clubs cannot find room for that type of news on page 1, but in a city of 15,000, with only one Garden Club, what is wrong when scandal crowds out constructive news? The trouble is that editors of small newspapers often do not think out things for themselves. They see the large newspapers and get the idea that the proper thing to do is to become just as metropolitan as possible right away. They do not realize that the large newspapers are unfortunate in that they cannot possibly give due prominence to the little wholesome things of the little cities. That is their misfortune and the gain of the small newspaper. The small newspaper is foolish when it tries to ape the weak points of its big neighbors."

Children are happy when they can have their own way and men are like that, too.

A Carlisle, Pa., man gave an excuse for selling a lot of whiskey that he needed the money to pay a fine in court for being found guilty of selling a lot of hooch at a term of court. Omygosh!

A fool manages to keep the fast from himself longer than he does anybody else.

Children Are Very Exacting Concerning What "Santa Brings"

Do children know what they want for Christmas? Unquestionably they do, according to a certain little 4 year old boy of Hazel avenue.

Last year, his most important and exacting request from Santa Claus was a dump truck. Santa Claus was very busy and as it was rather late when he got around to the order, he wrapped up for the little boy a toy truck, and supposed the adjective dump didn't have any real meaning.

Christmas morning arrived and the boy excitedly came down stairs, or maybe he even slid down the banisters. There was the truck, bright and shining, all apparently that could be desired.

"Does it dump?" was his first question.

No, it didn't dump. Well that was that, so far as that particular boy was concerned. This Christmas he remarks as he is busily polishing the truck. "I must get this all shined up and get Santa Claus to take it back."

Then there was a certain little girl who wanted a small broom—a regular broom only in miniature. Again Santa found some difficulty in meeting this requirement and he thought she would never know the difference if he gave her a whisk broom. Did she? Well, rather! Santa Claus never attempted a thing like that again!

Which all goes to prove that children want what they want when they want it.

May Repudiate Confession In Murder Charge

Actress In Protest Against Questioning Of Prosecution Threatens Action

(International News Service) CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 19.—Gladys Mae Parks, who is held on a charge of murdering Dorothy Rogers, 4, has threatened to "untruthfully" confess she killed the girl and her brother, Timothy, to avoid questioning. Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin revealed Monday.

He said Miss Parks made a vigorous protest against the questioning to which she has been subjected. In making the threat, she reiterated her declaration that Dorothy died after being slapped and that Timothy was fatally injured when he fell down a stairway.

Baldwin said the Parks case would not be presented to the grand jury before next week.

Miss Parks joined in the singing of hymns during religious services in the jail Sunday, her soprano voice, which at one time was heard in Atlantic City dance hall in the latest jazz numbers, rose above other voices in the choir.

(International News Service) COLTON, Cal., Nov. 19.—Wounded while witnessing a double tragedy Mrs. Walter J. Vernet was today pronounced in an improved condition in a hospital here. She was struck by a bullet which first pierced the heart of Fred W. Jenkins, formerly a wealthy architect of Philadelphia.

Prejudice Thrives Where Ignorance Hives! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE beckons all to cultivate knowledge. Tyranny, intolerance and poverty wither as schools grow in this great land of opportunity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Armistice With Enemies Of Health Is Advocated

"A few days ago the nation for the eleventh time celebrated Armistice Day. Reports indicate that the main subject discussed at that time involved peace. Nationally and internationally, the spirit of settling disputes with governments through arbitration rather than by the sword, is constantly gaining in general popularity and favor. Statesmen and people appear to be developing peace-mindedness, with war and resort to arms losing much of its popular glamour in the process," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"It indeed would be a happy condition if individuals would also generate a peaceful spirit against the enemies of health that are represented by unwise living habits now so prevalent. Belching, gasping, rasping, machine guns and chemical attacks are as spectacular and stark realities as every veteran knows. But unfortunately, habits which undermine health and often destroy life do not present the ugly and terrifying aspects as do the instruments of battle.

"The overloaded table, habitually 'attacked' by the overeating hordes, has all the earmarks of a friend. Nevertheless, it represents one of the effective methods of developing disease and prematurely terminating the lives of many of its victims.

"Excessive and habitual use of stimulants to prod an already tired body on its way also is one of mankind's most formidable enemies. Easy and painless to take 'tis true, but powerful to kill just the same.

"Again, a deep-cushioned chair regularly and exclusively employed as a substitute for daily exercise and fresh air literally welcomes one with open arms—and then having succumbed to its wiles it frequently makes 'casualties' of those whose affliction for it has been too sincere. "It must be appreciated that life itself is a war—a daily battle against germ-life and the devitalizing influence of today's mode of existence. When the individual seriously realizes this fact, and then follows it up with the removal of those enervating influences that are bent on wounding or killing him, the spirit of peace will indeed have taken proper hold and a real Armistice will have been signed.

"Do not forget that preparedness in the form of a healthy and vital constitution is as essential to the man or woman as is preparedness in terms of armies and battleships to nations. Therefore, sign the Armistice today with your bad habits. Thus gain and keep strength and exemplify peace in its most personal, happy and sensible way. Proclaim a real victory. And live many years to celebrate it."

PETER'S ADVENTURES ANIMAL LAND

MISTAKEN FOR THE ENEMY

Sharp little claws scratched at Peter's coat and tore at his hair until he screamed out sharply with pain. Peter tried to beat the little claws off but he was wedged so tightly in the hole where once the stone had been that he couldn't move. And since the claws scratched more sharply whenever he stirred the boy thought it best to keep quiet. At least however he did manage to find breath to gasp:

"If you would stop mauling me for a moment I would take myself off you. Keep on pulling at me and I'll only squash you the harder. And once I am up and on my feet I can explain matters. I am sorry to hurt you. I certainly had no evil intentions."

Silence greeted Peter's words. And one of the queer creatures who had come to the fallen comrade's aid was so startled to hear the boy's speech that he let go of Peter's coat suddenly and toppled over backward. Peter couldn't resist a chuckle at the sight of the little fellow on his back, beating the air with his legs in an effort to turn himself right side up.

"Why he speaks our language!" exclaimed one of the queer little creatures. "But who on earth is he? He doesn't look like any of the meadow people we have seen!" Peter's wrath rose.

"Why didn't you wait and find out who I was before you jumped on me?" cried he. I was going about my own business and I ran into your home by mistake."

"And lifted the roof right off from over our heads!" shrieked one of the little creatures. What did you do that for if you meant us no harm?"

"How did I know it was your roof?" demanded Peter.

How long the two might have argued it will never be known. The boy and the queer little creature were interrupted by a shrill cry of mingled anger and agony.

Police May Start Pension Bill Fight

It is reported today by persons in the confidence of city police that legal assistance will be secured in the hope of unravelling the pension tangle here. City officials, it is understood are not objecting to the police proposal and sooner or later the issue will become a showdown with a court room as a battle-ground.

In 1922 an ordinance was passed fixing firemen and police pensions. One per cent of all taxes levied for general revenue was to be added to an amount derived from state foreign fire insurance.

The ordinance was prepared by the late solicitor, James A. Gardner, introduced by Councilman Davies and signed by Councilman William T. Burns, who, at the time, was acting as mayor, or president of council.

The late Fire Chief Conery was the only one to receive any of the benefits and he received about $150, after he had been pensioned.

Under the provisions of the ordinance council was to manage and control the pension as a pension board, it is stated. The money when not needed for pensions was to be invested in government securities.

Until probably a year ago the council did not organize nor invest the money. It was carried as a city liability and has grown to approximately $34,000, half of which came from state foreign fire insurance.

Not so long ago an ordinance was introduced amending the 1922 local law which would allow the pension board to invest the money in other than government securities.

This measure was repealed recently.

Of the sum carried as a city liability none came from the paid firemen or police. It is reported but all from the state foreign fire insurance plus the one per cent of taxes levied for general revenue purposes.

When news of the death of the proposed amending ordinance came, city police talked of legal aid and it is said have discussed the proposition with attorneys.

Councilman Burns when asked today if he had heard of the proposed action said he had and showed the 1922 local bill. He said he was willing as a city official to have the police start action.

He said the sum is carried as a city liability. He said that to have invested the money in securities paying a less interest than what the city paid for borrowed money would not have been economy.

Head-on Collision Of Cars Results In Suit For Damages

Albert Gunther of Pittsburgh has filed a suit in the prothonotary's office against John Kocian of Midland, in which he asks for $5,500 damages as a result of an auto accident on the New Castle-Beaver road near Willow Grove.

Gunther claims that he was driving carefully on his own side of the road when Kocian, operating his machine past the center of the road in an opposite direction, collided head-on with the Gunther car.

Gunther says his car was a total wreck and that as a result of the impact he sustained serious injuries.

Contractor Brings Suit To Collect Re-modeling Bill

W. C. Dickson, an Ohio contractor, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Alice and Kate McFarland, the latter also being known as Kate A. Becker, in which $4,764.37 is asked on a contract for remodeling a house.

Dickson claims that he entered into a verbal agreement with the defendants to remodel their home in Mahoning township. Two rooms were to be added and he was also to raise two houses. He was to charge for labor and material, but no price was agreed upon.

When the bill was presented defendants refused to pay, claiming it was too large. Among the largest items are masonry, $1,332.38; carpenter work, $1,908.51.

Pennsylvania Right In Line

Will Aid President Hoover's Plan For Stimulating
Business

LARGE SUMS WILL BE EXPENDED IN 1930

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 19.—Pennsylvania will do its share toward stimulating building and construction operations during the next year in cooperation with the conferences now in progress at Washington upon invitation of President Hoover. Millions of dollars will be expended for new buildings while additional millions will go out for new highways.

The legislature early this year appropriated more than $25,000,000 for additional to the various welfare institutions. Little of that money has been spent to date for trustees are in the process of preparing the plans for most of these operations.

Work provided for under appropriation grants during the 1927-29 biennium are just being completed. This condition prevails at the penal and correctional institutions, normal schools, armories and State College. The State Armory Board has not yet completed the allocation of funds from its last $1,000,000 appropriation. The Department of Public Instruction also has not yet finished allocating its $2,000,000 fund to the normal schools to provide for additional facilities.

The building operations at the various welfare institutions are just getting under way. During the winter months architects will complete their plans and bids will be asked so that construction can be started early in the spring.

Highway construction in Pennsylvania during 1930 promises to break all previous records. There remains 550 miles of road improvement yet to be advertised and several hundred miles more now under contract cannot be completed this season. In addition the department plans the replacement of 250 bridges during the year.

In this city the State has work under way consisting more than $6,000,000. This includes a new building for the Educational Department and one for the State Farm Products Show.

Suit Is Filed Over Stock Sale

Bank Is Defendant In Unique Trial Which Opens At Mercer Today

MERCER, Nov. 19.—Trial was started this morning in common pleas court here on one of the most unique suits ever filed in the history of Mercer county, in which C. M. Barr and Co. of Pittsburgh, seek to recover the sum of $42,000 from the First National Bank of Sharon.

It is claimed that the First National Bank of Sharon; Colonial Trust Co. of Farrell; Crawford County Trust Co. of Meadville; and Lawrence

County Trust Co., of New Castle, had, collectively entered into an agreement to buy and sell stocks and bonds. That E. R. Miller of the First National Bank of Sharon and E. W. McGill of the Crawford County Co., of Meadville, had in 1925, investigated the McCormick Lumber Co., of the state of Washington, recommending their securities and offering them for sale.

It is further alleged that the C. M. Barr Co., purchased 50,000 shares of the stock in this concern and sold them to their clients in Pittsburgh. In 1927, the McCormick Co. failed. The Barr Co. redeemed securities sold to their clients in the sum of $42,000 and ask that they be reimbursed by the First National Bank in the above mentioned sum. It is claimed by them that these stocks were not as represented to them by the bank, and were not worth the value represented. A brilliant array of legal talent represents both parties to the suit.

Depositions of witnesses which took five days to assemble will be read to the jury. Counsel for the Pittsburgh firm brought five cases of law books with them to the trial.

Interest Increases In Revival Service

Interest is increasing in the revival services being held in the Church of the Nazarene. Last night Prof. Sparks led a rousing song service and Rev. Posey, the evangelist, spoke on "Grieving the Spirit" after which a number responded to the altar call.

Only One Voting Machine As Yet Given Approval

State Also Board Considering Another Machine, Made In Brooklyn

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—The Examining Board named to study the various types of voting machines submitted for use in the State is not expected to make its report on the latest machine studied for several weeks.

The examination was conducted a week ago.

At the present time the only machine which has received official sanction is one manufactured in Jamestown, N. Y. The one examined last week was submitted by a firm with headquarters in Brooklyn. This concern is just getting started and so far as is known here has not yet reached the production stage at its factory.

A number of counties are planning to install machines for use at the primaries next spring. In order to do that the orders must be placed soon or the factory getting the business will be unable to complete the machines in time for the next election.

The reason for the expected delay in the next report is to permit the board to study the various patents on the Brooklyn machine. One of the members of the examining board under the law is a patent attorney. Until this study is completed the board cannot make its report to the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

County commissioners cannot delay too long the matter of purchasing the machines once their installation has been approved by the electorate. The law provides that if the machines are not purchased within fourteen months the Secretary of the Commonwealth can order them for the district and send the bill to the county.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF.
In the case of Charles R. Kelly against Joseph O'Rourke and others which was on trial before Judge Hildebrand yesterday, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $394.36. The bill was for funeral expenses of Lillian O'Rourke, wife of Joseph O'Rourke.

It keeps some people poor throwing bouquets at themselves.

New Castle Women Go To Republican Women's Conference

Mrs. Carl B. Hart, chairman of the Council of Republican Women in this county, and Mrs. F. S. Breneman, vice chairman of the Republican county committee, leave tonight for Harrisburg, Pa., where they will attend the sessions of the state conference of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women. The conference opens Wednesday at noon and continues through Friday afternoon.

Governor John S. Fisher will welcome the delegates to the conference, as will State Chairman and State Treasurer Edward Martin, and Mrs. Charles S. Stouffer, vice chairman of the state Republican committee. Mrs. Walter King Sharpe, president of the council, will preside.

On Wednesday evening a banquet will be held in the Penn-Harris dining room, at which Hon. Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Italy, will be the main speaker. Mrs. Bessie Dodson Altemus will be the toastmistress. The subject of Mr. Fletcher's address will be "Some Aspects of Our Foreign Relations". Congresswoman Ruth V. Pratt of New York will be the third speaker on the program.

On Thursday a business session will be held and in the afternoon Hon. Peter Glick, secretary of labor and industry, will speak, as will Senator David A. Reed. Thursday evening Mrs. Tattall Brown, daughter of Governor Fisher, will hold a reception in the mansion, at which the officers and delegates will attend. Mrs. Brown will also entertain the executive officers at the mansion on Wednesday.

Mrs. Hart is attending the conference as the representative of the local council, while Mrs. Breneman is representing the county committee.

Change Of Venue Granted Deputies

(International News Service)

MARION, N. C., Nov. 19.—The eight McDowell county deputy sheriffs charged with the massacre of six textile strikers here will be tried in Yancey county, Judge V. G. Cowper, who granted a change of venue, announced today.

The state demanded the venue change on the ground that it would be impossible for the deputies to obtain an impartial trial here. The trial will be called for a special term of court beginning December 9.

The six strikers were killed in a battle between strikers and officers at the gate of the Marion Manufacturing company plant here on October 2.

Voting Machines Not Infallible

(International News Service)

ALBANY, Nov. 19.—Election voting machines may easily be manipulated by unscrupulous inspectors and custodians according to experiments just made by Frank S. Apple, a clerk in the Albany board of elections.

The test was made with the idea of ascertaining whether the figures could be changed between election day and a later date in the event of a recount became necessary.

Apple claims he found the figures not only could be changed in such cases but also could be manipulated when the totals were first read directly after voting had stopped.

NEW CASTLE OUR CASTLE

by
The Woman's Club - Organized in 1887.

"GOD COULDN'T BE EVERYWHERE, SO HE MADE MOTHERS."

In this proverb, even the pagan recognizes in the mother, a God appointed guardian of the race.

Our own city knows no greater need than just such guardianship or mothering—for our homes, for our schools, for our recreations and for our public housekeeping. To aid such work is the aim of this column.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK

By Susanna Young

We believe in Children's Book Week especially as an appeal to parents to do more reading themselves and to suggest good books for their children's reading. What a bond of family union a really good book may be! It may be read aloud or passed from one member of the family to another and form the topic of group discussions. Whole families may thus be united in intellectual companionship.

As parents, give books, good books, as gifts to your boys and girls, starting with the little picture books for the very young child, followed by the nursery rhyme and the folk tale, thus creating a love for books by their possession in the play room, side by side with the toys. Reading should be made for children a joyous thing. They should, if possible, have book shelves of their own and even before their first years in school intellectual curiosity should be developed. It has been said that if during the first 12 years of a child's life he has been made familiar with the best literature adapted to his range of thought, there need be no fear that he will read unworthy books. In this day of the sensational story of vice and crime, parents, teachers and librarians need to combine as never before to create and foster a love for good books in our girls and boys, which will be "an armour against evil and a strength in time of trouble."

The Joys of Reading

There may be 70 times seven joys of reading, but Mary Wright Plummer knows there are seven. In her little book, "The Seven Joys of Reading," she mentions first the joy of familiarity. We have all seen the smile of enjoyment spread over a small child's face when we began the often repeated story with "once upon a time". The joy of familiarity is not only experienced by children, but carries over into the adult life, and such books as "The Christmas Carol" may be re-read again and again for old times sake.

The second joy is the joy of surprise, the unexpected surprise of plot or life saving solution to the story.

The third joy is that of sympathy. To find this third pleasure in reading we must know a writer who is congenial to us, who touches us and to whom our minds and spirits respond.

The fourth joy is the joy of appreciation. This pleasure belongs to maturity and richness of experience, from which we respond to satisfying descriptions and beauty of language.

The fifth joy is that of expansion. We are caught up out of our day's routine and see through a book or read into it life in its true proportions.

The sixth joy is the joy of shock. This is to most people an acquired taste. It is the work of the purely intellectual writer that administers this shock, and by it we often get our mental circulation quickened and feel awake, temporarily at least.

The last joy is the joy of revelation. This joy, says Mrs. Plummer, is not confined to books alone. It is found in music, pictures, drama, etc. It may occur but seldom in a lifetime, but when it comes we catch possibilities and new visions. There is then, as Emerson says, "inspired reading as well as inspired writing".

(Adapted from Mrs. Wright Plummer's "Joys of Reading.")

Residents Warned Against Selling Plan Through Mail

Are Advised To Ignore Goods
Mailed Them Without Order
By Outside
Concerns

Residents of New Castle and the surrounding community are warned against a slick merchandising scheme which is being used by mail order houses in increasing numbers.

Under the plan a package of merchandise is received by the citizen through the mail, with a request that he send one dollar in payment for the same.

The following quotation from a bulletin issued by the Better Business Bureau gives a line on the true values sometimes represented by these articles and outlines your rights in handling them.

"Several packages of such unorderly merchandise, which the senders claimed to be $1.50 values for $1, disclosed the average replacement price by local merchants, to be approximately 50 cents.

"You do not have to pay for such articles. You do not have to return them. Just put them aside. If an authorized agent calls for them, you may give them to him. If he doesn't call within a reasonable length of time, you may charge storage for the bother you have been put to in keeping them."

Postmaster General New states that the practice has increased to such an extent that legislation demanding prohibition of this method of merchandising is needed.

In case New Castle residents receive such articles of merchandise, they are advised to call 2660, or mail or bring such letters or packages to the Better Business Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce for their attention.

Helped at Change of Life

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine at the Change of Life. I would get blue spells and just walk the floor. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and was not able to do my work. I know if it had not been for your medicine I would have been in bed most of this time and had a big doctor's bill. By Ways And Woods

By OWEN PENFIELD FOX

I stood alone, in the big woods, my love of nature had called me there, as I looked afar the big trees, that just a few weeks ago were clothed in leaves are now bare. There was a stiff wind blowing that made weird sounds as it played among the trees, and the leaves lying on the ground were picked up by it and sent in little whirls along the way, to find a resting place among the bushes, and who knows but it may provide a shelter for Rabbit or Bob-White when the winter snows come.

And while watching the antics of the leaves I heard a few notes of the Chick-a-dee, as he fed on the seeds of wild grasses, this I saw in a distance.

Oh! these old woods were beautiful, for a few yards ahead of me, white birches were standing, the black bands on the white bark standing out in bold relief.

I see a Fox Squirrel and hear his bark, as I came up to a big Oak tree, where the ground was covered with acorns.

A big Coppers Hawk sailed on noiseless wings gave hint of coming tragedy, for no doubt some Grouse or Quail would forfeit its life to this killer.

Speaking of Hawks brings to my mind the swiftest killer among the Hawks namely the Duck Hawk which makes it's killing on the wing, as he will not attack any sitting creature.

Then as I went my way to the edge of the woods, I came upon wild grapes that had dried up and were still hanging on the vines. This wild fruit is a God send to the Feathered creatures when the snow is hard upon the ground.

The shadows were lengthening and another day is coming to a close, a wispy column of smoke is rising from a distant farm house, and back of me the woods are taking on the mystic cloak of night, and as I left for home I left behind me the Woods, the Feathered folk, and Fur, and I thank Manito the Great Spirit for the herland. We knew there was a wild streak in him somewhere.—Los Angeles Times.

Charles Bernine wants $5,415.85

sult Of Accident

Charles Bernine has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against John Masteko, in which he asks for $5,415.85 damages as a result of an automobile accident.

Bernine claims that he was driving on Mahoning avenue and driving well to his own side of the street, when the defendant, coming in an opposite direction and over the center of the street, crashed into him. Bernine's machine was badly damaged and he received personal injuries. He alleges that the accident was due to the careless manner in which Masteko was operating his car.

CORONER'S JURY HEARS
WITNESSES IN DEATH OF GIRL STRUCK BY CAR

she was running across the street directly in front of his machine. He did not remember having seen the mother of the little girl. He stated that his car stopped within approximately twenty-five feet of the point, where she was struck, which he thought was about in front of the gate into Dave's junk yard, located at Friendship and South Mill streets. He stated that he was operating his car about three feet from the parked cars on the east side of the street, one wheel about the middle of the northbound tracks and the other to the east of the northbound tracks.

He said John Fairweather of 1815 Hamilton street, and George Wendt were in his coupe with him. Fairweather being seated beside him and Wendt on the right hand side of the car.

As soon as his car was stopped, he jumped out and ran back in time to see a woman pick up the child and a young fellow take the child from her. They had placed the child in a car and taken her to the New Castle hospital. He was of the opinion that the right front fender struck the little girl. She had moaned while being taken to the hospital, he stated. He said that the brakes of his car were four wheeled brakes and that he was traveling about 22 to 23 miles an hour, when the accident occurred. He had slowed up at Home street. He said to permit several children going toward Home street school to get across, and had not speeded up when the accident occurred.

He told of reporting the accident to the police and staying at the hospital for a time after taking the child there. The little girl came out from between parked cars and not from behind the last car there, he said.

Statements Corroborated

John Fairweather of 1815 Hamilton street, corroborated the statements of George Wendt in every way, telling of Guthrie getting him at home and picking up George Wendt at Long avenue and Mill street. The girl ran out from behind a truck, he said and they were going slow because of the fact that they had slowed down to allow children cross at Home street. He saw the girl just about the time she was struck. The brakes were put on and the car swerved. The machine went about twenty feet, he thought after hitting the child.

George Wendt, the other occupant of the car, told the same story as the other persons in the machine at the time of the accident. His statements corroborated the story of the others.

Mother Testifies

Mrs. Laurina Cassella, mother of the little girl, gave a very graphic description of the occurrence that resulted in the death of her child. The first time she realized that the little girl was away from home was when she was called from her kitchen into the store, which is directly across the street from Dave's junkyard. She saw her little girl clear across the street on the east sidewalk.

She started to get her, looking for cars as she started across the street and seeing only the Guthrie car coming from the south. The little girl was coming back home at the same time and was just out in the street apparently looking for cars, when the brakes of the machine sounded, she said. She screamed and the little girl stopped, was struck and the mother then saw her lying up the street fifteen or twenty feet, went to her picked her up, called for someone to get the number of the car. The child was taken from her and rushed to the hospital, where she died several hours later. The mother said that the car had stopped north of Friendship street after the accident.

Witness To Accident

Peter Costella, 305 East Friendship street, had been at the northwest corner of Mill and Friendship street, when he heard the brakes of the car and turned around just in time to see the child struck. She was thrown about fifteen feet, he thought. He had taken the baby from the mother and took her to the hospital in Dave's car, accompanied by Dave Guthrie and Peter DiLorenzo. He told of a conversation overheard between Dave and Guthrie relative to the speed Guthrie had been going.

Peter DiLorenzo told of being at the northwest corner of Mill and Friendship streets and hearing the brakes of the car and the scream of the mother. He had turned but not soon enough to see the child struck. He gave some relative distances in the case.

Sam Ross told of being at the same corner, of hearing the brakes but he had not turned around. Charles Cassandra told of some measurements he had made at the scene of the accident. Cyrus Gallagher, who had been at the southeast corner of Mill and Home, estimated that the Guthrie car was going twenty-five miles an hour when it passed him at Home street, where he saw some children crossing to go to school about the same time. Cars parked on the east side of Mill street had prevented him from seeing the accident.

Mr. Bennett has had wide experience in community religious education work, having served for several years as instructor and dean of a community school for the training of religious education leaders in Cleveland.

The presentation of this course is regarded as an outstanding piece of Association work by the local committee on Religious Education which includes Mrs. J. L. Stratton, chairman, Mrs. J. M. Blackwood, and Mrs. G. W. Conway. The committee will assist in the organizing of the class this evening.

School Library Special Display

National Book Week Being Observed; Other News Notes Of Seventh Ward

In observance of National Book week there is a special display arranged in the Mahoning school library. Miss Margaret Brenner is in charge of the library. The pupils of the school have done quite a lot of special work for this week.

Some of the girls of 4A to the eighth grade have dressed dolls to represent various book characters and are displayed on one table. Silhouettes of book characters have been drawn free hand and inked by boys and girls of grades 4A to 8. These have been arranged about the walls of the library.

Tuck A Way Village has been illustrated by Myrtle Mae Conn and Eileen Mullen of the seventh grade. There is a demonstration of woodwork on another table. This was done by boys of the upper grades. The woodwork is characters carved from wood. The boys first drew their book characters, carved them and painted them for this display.

The book "Seven Peas in a Pod" is illustrated in an original manner by Wilma McCann of 7B-2. A rather large pod has been made of green crepe paper. Showing at the opening of pod are the heads of seven tiny dolls dressed in green crepe paper. Another book is illustrated, this is "Aunt Green, Aunt Brown and Aunt Lavender." The display shows their home and dolls dressed to represent these three characters. An illustration of "Snowbound" is in the making.

Dance Benefit For Nurses' Home

Expect Large Crowd At Cathedral Ball Room On Wednesday

TO AID FUND FOR
N. C. HOSPITAL HOME

For the purpose of raising money for the proposed nurses' home at the New Castle Hospital, a dance is being held in the Cathedral on Wednesday evening, November 20. An advance sale of tickets indicates that an immense crowd will be present, but the size of the Cathedral ballroom insures no crowding.

Not only will a dance be held, but a bazaar will also be given at the same time. The usual games of fun and amusement will be in progress, with confectionery and soft drinks for everybody.

For the dance a number of committees have been working for weeks, and their work should be rewarded Wednesday evening with a crowd that will show results in the box office.

All of the work of the committees has been done freely, and very little expense will come out of the receipts tomorrow night. The cause for which it is being given has prompted every one to get back of the affair heartily, and the men and women in charge feel gratified at the response.

For some time a new nurses' home has been badly needed at the New Castle hospital. The force of women there is so large that they must have adequate quarters. Some money has already been turned in, but the total amount needed is yet far in the distance.

Believing that people liked to get a lot of fun with their contributions to the cause, the committee decided upon a dance and bazaar placing the general admission price at one dollar.

The dance and bazaar is open to the general public and will not be formal. A splendid orchestra has been secured for the dance, there will be cards for those who wish, and for those who neither dance or play cards, there is an evening of fun that will be worth many times the admission price.

7:30 in the church. Those who are to take part in this program please meet in the Sunday school room Wednesday evening at 6:30 for practice.

Misses Helen Weiss and Helen Farrell and James Stickle motored to Bridgeville Sunday and visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stickle spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Chesney of Portersville.

Mrs. McKinley Shaffer spent Saturday in New Castle with her grandmother Mrs. Nancy Palmer, who is very ill.

Lafe Chaffer who has been in the Jameson Memorial hospital for 12 weeks has not been so well the past week.

The Missionary society of the Princeton church will have an all day meeting in the home of Mrs. McKinley Shaffer Thursday November 21. Prayer meeting in the Princeton church Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Fire of undetermined origin gutted the chicken house of Chauncey Flack Sunday evening. One side was burned away but the chickens were unharmed.

Juror Who Talked Too Much During Trial Is Fined $100

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 19.—William H. Hatt, East Rochester charged with a bench warrant for tampering with a jury was before Judge W. A. McConnell today and was fined $100 and the costs of the process. He was committed to the custody of the sheriff until the fine and costs are paid.

The forman of the jury trying the case of J. A. Norton, Rochester, versus Chester W. Lotz, Rochester, for damages in an automobile accident, reported in a note to the court that Hatt had talked with Edward Buckenheimer, Rochester, member of the jury in the corridor of the court house during the trial. Hatt was a witness in the case.

"You talk too much" said Judge McConnell in imposing sentence, "keep your mouth shut in the future. Now this case will have to be tried over again."

The court dismissed the trial jury and ordered the case continued.

"What Is Man?"

Ayers Subject

Galbreath Avenue Family Is Awarded Prize At Baptist Revival Monday

"A bestial philosophy concerning the origin of man, will lead to bestial morals," declared Evangelist W. W. Ayer last night at the First Baptist church. "Barnyard theories of man's ascent have led to a barnyard code of morals," he continued. "What is man?" was the speaker's subject, and the text was found in the majestic eighth Psalm. He said in part: "The most scientific explanation of the origin of man is the account given in the opening pages of Genesis, that man was created by God in His own image. If man is nothing but an exalted beast, it is little wonder that his life is held so cheaply today. Man is a fallen creature. Sin has not been a stumble upward, marking the day when man emerged from the beasts and received the first ray of moral consciousness. Sin is not the remnant of animism, it is a direct violation of the will of God our Maker. Hendrick Van Loon says that we live on a fifth rate planet, illuminated by a tenth rate sun, and are in a forgotten corner of the universe. But the Bible reveals that this world is not forgotten but is the object of God's love and mercy. It was not to a forgotten world that God sent His only Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, to die as a Redeemer."

First prize for the largest family was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. John Koch, 427 Galbreath avenue, who were present with their ten children. A New Testament was given to each member of the family. The second largest family present was that of Mr. and Mrs. John Zeigler, 509 Whippoorwill street, eight members of the immediate family being present. These two families also stood first and second in the family connection contest with 13 of the Koch connection and 12 of the Zeigler connection being present. A special musical number was sung by the Koch family. Tonight's prize will be given to the mill man who brings the largest number of his associates to the meeting. Mr. Ayer will speak on the subject "What Is Your Weight."

"Y" Asks More Homes Be Offered To Boys

Boys' Work Secretary W. A. Thomas of the local Y. M. C. A. was told last Saturday that an attendance probably in excess of the 300 mark will be recorded in this year's three-day sessions of the Older Boys' conference of Pennsylvania, to which New Castle will play host on November 29 and 30 and December 1.

This word came from W. W. Hall, state Y. M. C. A. secretary related to young men's work whose position carries him in direct contact with the youth who plan to attend from other cities.

Rooms for more than 150 boys have been promised it is reported, but 150 more must immediately be secured so that an emergency condition might easily be coped with should more than 300 arrive. Friends of the Y. M. C. A. are asked to offer their homes.

The boys will come here Friday afternoon, November 29, register and visit their local "homes." There will be a banquet Friday night. The boys will spend Friday and Saturday nights at their assigned homes and are expected to be given breakfast and dinner on Saturday and Sunday. Departure from New Castle will be made Sunday afternoon, December 1.

Those who will gladly open their homes to at least one boy, several perhaps, are asked to fill out the following coupon and mail it at once. The "Y" will appreciate it.

W. A. Thomas,
Y. M. C. A.,

Full Military Honors Accorded Heroes Of "Polar Bear" Division By France

(International News Service)
CHERBOURG, France, Nov. 19.—Full military honors were tendered the bodies of 75 heroes of the American "Polar Bear" division which saw action on the Archangel front in 1918-1919, when the flag-draped coffins were placed aboard the tender "Welcome" Monday.

Tomorrow the mortal remains of these heroes will begin the last leg of their long journey from the frozen archangel sector to their homeland, the United States. The coffins will be transferred to the United States Liner President Roosevelt when that vessel arrives here from Southampton enroute to New York.

The bodies recently arrived here from Russia aboard a Soviet ship. Most of the dead were members of a regiment known as "Detroit's own."

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A lady from the middle west who came to live in New York complains that people won't "neighbor." She lives in a building with 200 apartments. There are from one to six tenants in each of them.

Her complaint could be cured if a hundred or more of the tenants started to get chummy. In the small town she comes from 200 families would be spread over quite an area. If she didn't like those folks next door, she could be cool toward them. People don't get so intimate at long distance.

When a neighbor gets the chummy idea, in a big apartment house, she doesn't even have to put a hat on to go visiting. She can keep her hair in combs, wear pajamas, and drop in for coffee.

Another woman who came to the city and waited neighbors had a startling experience. She told me about it. The pretty women who lived across the way were not at all what she supposed they were and she was dragged into a very embarrassing position by her desire for friendliness. The fact is she was dragged into several of them, because she was hard to convince. Later some of her jewelry disappeared. In her home town a thief would have been placarded. Not so in New York.

I asked the real estate agent, who handed me a lease to sign if I had to read four pages of finely printed instructions on the lease.

"It's all for the benefit of the firm, anyway," I told him. "I can't do anything about it if I don't like it."

"I know it," he answered. "It's all a lot of hoey, because translated, it means that all you have to do is pay your rent and keep quiet."

The wife of an apartment hotel owner in Chicago was one of these neighborly souls. She should have known better, but she got chummy with three pretty women who offered to bring her a fur coat, cheap, from Canada. Later her friendliness proved of great value to Federal authorities who wanted facts. The women were fur smugglers and opium smokers.

The safest neighbors are women with children who stay at home and take care of them. You have no idea how many buildings bar children, and LOOK what they let in!

Legion Drive Is In Full Swing

Officers Are Gratified At Progress So Far In Campaign

With the membership drive of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, just getting its second wind, the officers of the post are gratified with the showing. During the present week an especial effort is being made to sign all of the 1928 members, and with all of the old ones on the roster, the drive members are going out after new members.

The 1929 membership was one that brought attention from the state convention at Scranton. For the unusual showing made, the post was awarded a handsome silver loving cup and the post officers are determined to put another cup alongside of it for the 1929 drive.

Each year sees it easier to sign members for the American Legion. The work of the national and state organizations in securing relief for disabled veterans and the work for all ex-service men has won the confidence of all those who served, and want to be enrolled with the organization.

The convention will be held during the same week as the National Education Association convention at the seaside resort, which means that the exhibit of the New Castle schools will be witnessed by educators of the entire country.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, has already made arrangements to have the exhibit prepared.

Ivorites Plan To Get More Members

Griffith Phillips Presides At Meeting—News Notes Of Interest

By W. A. JOHNS (Brython).
An interesting meeting was held last Saturday evening by the members of the Star of Wales lodge. There was a large number of members present and each one spoke very strongly of increasing the membership of the lodge and go in on the competition of the silver cup, which is given by the Ivorite order to the lodge that will have the most members in 12 months time.

It was thought by some of those present that there are many young Welshmen in the city who would be glad to join if some one would speak to them on the question.

John Harvard gave his monthly report of the sick of the lodge. Thomas D. Thomas gave the report of the financial affairs of the lodge. Griffith Phillips, Lyndal street, filled the office of president of the lodge and Brother Hopkins occupied the chair of the vice president.

Word has come to the city of the sudden death of John James, Portland, Ore., well known to the people of this city. He used to work at the Granite City mill but left the tin mill in the year 1919 for Portland, Ore. He secured a position with the board of education and he kept at this work until a few days before his death. He was a well educated and talented man. He left his native town for the United States in 1895.

Many inquiries are coming from far and near for a copy of the program of the Christmas Elsteddof which will be held as usual at the First Presbyterian church. People are sending for the program from as far as Williamstown, Pa., and we have secured a few from Mrs. D. W. Thomas and we forward the same to people that are wanting them. In looking over the program, we saw of the Elsteddof on Christmas day as in the hands of a very able man, William J. Davies, as the conductor of the day. The chairman will be the new pastor, Rev. Rhys T. Williams; the adj., Professor Maurice Lewis of Pittsburgh; secretary, Miss Davies of Waldo street and Miss S. Hughes of Clearview avenue, and treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Reese, Long avenue.

Next Sunday the singing festival will be held at Youngstown, O., under the auspices of St. David society and the Welsh Congregational church. The pastor of the church, Rev. H. R. Hughes, will take a leading part in the proceedings. Many of the Welsh people of New Castle are arranging to be present, so they will remember the date, November 26. Professor George Brown of Youngstown will be the musical conductor.

The members of the American Gorsedd will meet on November 30. This will be the annual meeting of the Gorsedd. Dr. Williams will preside. A class of new members will be initiated to the Gorsedd.

On Sunday, December 1, a large singing festival will take place at the Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, when some of the leading musicians of the city of Pittsburgh will conduct the music. Delegations are expected from Johnstown, Youngstown, New Castle, Warren, Cleveland, Washington, Martins Ferry, Canonsburg, Follansbee, Canton and Akron. The committee on arrangements is looking for five or six thousand Welsh people to be present at the singing festival.

Miss D. M. Davies, A. R. C. M. and L. R. A. M., former organist for the Memorial Baptist church of Swansea, South Wales, has left Swansea in company with her mother, Mrs. Mary Davies, for the United States and they will make the city of Baltimore, Md., their future home, where Miss Davies is looking for a position as organist in one of the leading churches of Baltimore. She is a fine organist and has passed through the Royal Academy of London, one of the youngest musicians in Wales who has won this honor. She is a cousin of Richard E. Johns, the choir leader of the First Christian church of this city, and may, with her mother, visit our city in the near future.

Work Proceeds Rapidly On New Church Grounds

Rain Does Not Delay Excavating On Epworth M. E. Grounds On East Washington Street

Excavation work on the site where the new Epworth M. E. church will stand, on a large lot on the corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue, is proceeding rapidly.

Men have been working on it steadily, even during rain showers. In four or five days, the contractor, W. P. Doot, expects to be finished with the excavation work.

Very little trouble has been had with swamp conditions, as was at first feared. Two hundred yards of earth were dug out on Saturday, the first day.

Thousands Still Visiting Shrine

Continue To Flock To Priests' Grave Seeking Surcease From Bodily Ills

(International News Service).
MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 19.—With many prominent names being added daily to the list of thousands thronging to the grave of the Rev. Patrick Power seeking surcease from bodily ills, Holy Cross cemetery officials today were conferring with police on the advisability of establishing regular hours for visiting the newly established shrine.

So great has become the demand for lodging by visiting pilgrims a representative of a large hotel chain is reported seeking options on land across the street with the purpose of erecting a hotel if the miraculous curative powers attributed to the tomb become permanent.

Defying a drenching rain and biting winds some 25,000 visited the grave yesterday. Among the vast throng was Jack Sharkey, heavyweight boxer, who knelt beside the tomb and prayed for the recovery of his daughter, Dorothy, 4, born with little vision in her left eye. The cure-seekers disregarding the rain-drenched ground, knelt on the muddy soil, many of them smearing mud on their limbs and faces in the hope that cures would be effected.

Many who visited the shrine have been daily supplicants, declaring they would continue their journeys until permanent cure resulted.

Proposes Bill To Protect Reporters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Another bill for protection of newspaper men was placed before congress today by Rep. La Guardia (R) of New York. He would exempt reporters in the United States from forced disclosure of information obtained in reporting the courts or committees of congress. CAMELS—

why smokers graduate to

The phrase "I've Graduated to Camels" originated with a Camel smoker. It expresses the experience of millions who through Camels have learned to know real smoking pleasure.

As taste in smoking develops, it naturally leads toward better quality. New smokers may not be critical but when they once experience the true mildness and surpassing fragrance of the Camel blend, they realize that here is a real superiority. It is for smokers of such discernment that Camels are made . . . for them the choicest tobaccos are selected . . . and this quality is maintained for the millions who know genuine smoking pleasure.

TAKING NO CHANCES
And while on the subject: The average negro, turned thespian, is a strange mixture of child-like innocence and simplicity. While wholly in love with his profession and its attendant opportunities for ostentation, he nevertheless is not blind to its precarious aspects, and invariably arranges his affairs so that when hard times hit his particular sector of the stage, he has some other line of endeavor to fall back on.

The current negro play, "Harlem," has a cast of 60, almost every one of whom has a bow with two strings. Ernie Whitman owns three Wild Out Casinos in the Ebony-and-Ivory belt. Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

SMART
Once women begin to patronize a product its manufacturers can be assured of its success. Thousands of dollars spent by cigaret companies in popularizing their product among women have made the use of "little white slaves" in New York a fashion issue, rather than one of morals. It's become "smart" for Mod-dom to suck on a cigaroot. And that's answer. In the shops where most fashionable are seen daily, smoking among them is so general that it seems almost compulsory. In the swankiest bazaar in town, just opened, cigarets are handed out to customers by "hostesses."

A cry in the night may be the first warning that baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

Superstitions Only Prove Us Normal People

Men Who Play Market Are More Than Generous To Beggars, Scientist
Finds

PEOPLE SLOW TO SURRENDER BELIEFS

By M. F. DACEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
DENVER, Col. Nov. 19.—Our perceptions are human and normal functions and should give us no cause for worry, according to Prof. Albert E. Reicht, department of astronomy, Denver University.

Such superstitions leading to beliefs that walking under a ladder or breaking a mirror bring bad luck, and a rabbit's foot, good luck; offering a knife breaking up a friendship—all began with primitive mankind, Prof.
Reicht says.

"They have come down through the ages," he says, "and they probably started with the desire of mankind to propitiate fate and avert evil. From close observation, it has been ascertained that people are slow to surrender beliefs they have inherited."

In Stock Market
The most superstitions of all are men and women who "play the stock market," according to Prof. Reicht. The man playing the market is uniformly kind to beggars, not from an elem-osynary standpoint, but because he believes it will bring him good luck.
Another with notoriously queer beliefs is the prizefighter. One champion always wore a pair of white trunks his mother made for him and a tattered old red sweater. Another champion always tied a pair of baby shoes in his corner before entering the fray.

Football coaches and baseball players also have their pet ideas concerning what brings good and bad luck,
Dr. Reicht said.

The firmest believers in luck charms, according to the Professor, are men and women of the theatre.
As illustrations, Dr. Reicht points out that Flo Zeigfeld always wears a old business suit to usher in a new production; George Bernard Shaw believes his luck lies in a collection of carved elephants which he displays on his mantel; Jane Cowl carries a rag doll with her to this day; it was given to her by David Belasco when she was a mere novice. She touches it after each performance.

Sailor Beliefs Men of the sea are firm believers in the supernatural. One of their most popular superstitions is that "a rainbow in the morning is the sailor's warning, but a rainbow at night is a sailor's delight." Another belief is that if a bird alights on the deck of a ship a death will follow.

"Islanders, Eskimos and other tribes of the far north," Dr. Reicht said, "have some sort of Talisman, charm or jinx swatter to ward off bad luck."
"And don't forget that the dictionary itself says a mascot is a 'person, animal or thing thought to bring good luck by its presence.'"

Dry Congressman Is Accused Of Law Violation

Grand Jury Indicts Illinois Congressman For Volstead Law Violation

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Another prohibition scandal, involving a dry Congressman and some baggage that leaked, broke out in Washington today when the District of Columbia grand jury returned indictments against Rep. Edward Everett Denison
(R) of Illinois, and his secretary, John Layne, charging violation of the Volstead act.

Denison is one of the veteran Republicans in Congress, having represented the 25th Illinois district for some 20 years. He is serving his eighth consecutive term and is rated a dry. He was one of those who voted for the famous Jones act, which increased the penalties for liquor law violation to a maximum of $5,000 and 10 years in prison.

The evidence upon which the indictment was returned set forth that last January, almost a year ago, a suitcase arrived from New York by express at Union Station, addressed to Layne, in care of "E. E. Denison, 411 House Office Building." It was leaking badly, and the odor of the leakage was such that the prohibition authorities were notified.

Agents went to the station and took charge of the suitcase and its fragrant contents. In pursuing their investigation, the agents discovered that a trunk also had been a part of the shipment, and that the trunk already had been delivered to the address, which is Rep. Denison's office in the Office Building.

They readily found the trunk there, according to the evidence presented to the grand jury. Identifying themselves, they requested the congressman to open the trunk, but they said Denison told them he did not have the key but that if they would return later he would try to produce it for them.

Returning later, the agents declared, Denison told them he had been unable to find the key and that, besides, the trunk did not belong to him.
They thereupon broke into the trunk and found a quantity of whiskey and gin.

Experts In 31 States On Record As Favoring County Manager Plan

By HOWARD P. JONES
Central Press Staff Writer
CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—There has been a lot of talk about rejuvenating county government by putting in a manager to run things.
That there's fire underneath the smoke has been proved by Paul W.
Wager, professor of rural sociology of the University of North Carolina, who has just completed a survey of opinion in every state in the Union on this subject for the National Municipal League.

31 Experts Agreed
Experts in 31 states were unanimously agreed, according to Professor Wager, here to attend a national conference on improving government, that the county demanded a stronger executive or chief administrator to direct its work. Sentiment in nine states was divided, and in six states the belief was that a manager was unnecessary. Four of these latter states, however, were in New England, where the county has only a nominal existence.

This manager thing is the 1929 government model. It's adapted from the city manager plan, now in operation in 430 American cities. This, in turn, is nothing more nor less than business applied to politics—the corporation type of organization put into a city government.

Advantages of Plan
If you make a man's job depend upon his record instead of upon how well he knows the political boss, you've gone quite a ways. You've gone farther, Professor Wager points out, when you have definitely fixed responsibility for carrying out the business of the city or county upon one man.

Prediction is freely made by professors of political science, shouldering each other around the hotel lobby between sessions of the conference, that the county manager plan will assume as much importance in the next 10 years as the city manager plan has in the past decade.

stockings has been mended by the Senior Girl Scout troop. The girls did the work to aid the Associated Charities. They worked during a meeting of the troop several days ago; when most of the socks and stockings were darned. However a few pairs still had ventilation holes where there shouldn't have been any. These were finished this morning and the bag of darned hosiery was taken to the office of the Associated Charities East street, to be distributed to those in need.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Talk of displacing Senator James E. Watson as Republican leader of the senate waned today following an endorsement of him by the Republican "young guards."

As announced by International News Service, the revolt of the "young guards" was never directed toward removing Watson, according to a telegram sent him at his Florida vacation retreat by Senator Hastings (R) of Delaware, a spokesman for the group.

"There is not a word of truth in newspaper stories that the younger members of the senate want to get rid of you as leader," Hastings wired Watson, with the approval of other "young guards." "On the other hand, they would not permit you to get out if you wanted to. We are for you and for your early return in good health."

Upward Movement Shown By Stocks

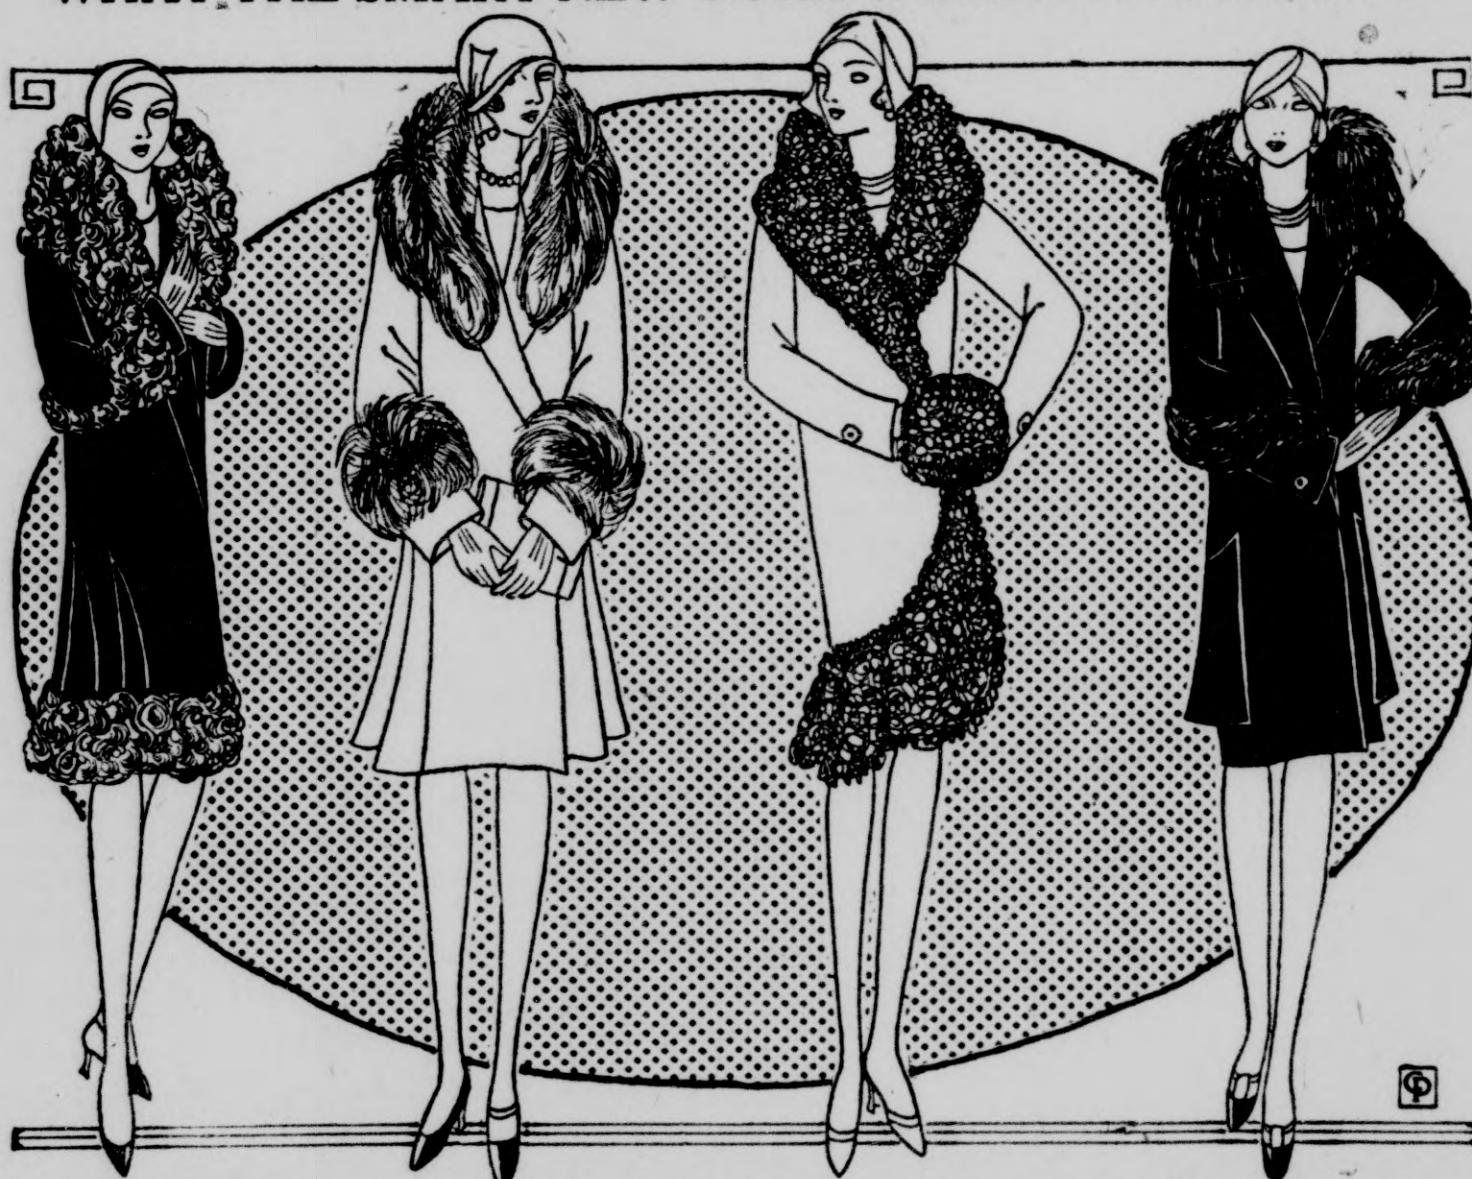

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—All sections of the stock market swung into a confident upward movement today under the impetus of an easier money market and a confident belief in the revival of American industry as soon as the effects of the October crash in ballooned stock prices have passed over. In addition to recovering all of the losses sustained in yesterday's decline, a score or more of the speculative favorites forged ahead to the best price levels since Friday.

Railroad presidents at the White House conference today assured Mr. Hoover there will be no curtailment of railroad budgets for improvements and purchases of equipment. Industrial heads are expected to give the same assurance to the country as a whole in relation to contemplated expansion programs in building construction, motor production and other important industries.

After an irregular opening, in which from 1 to 5 1-2 points were written off of market values of favorite issues, the market started upward at a creeping pace, which was accelerated as the three-hour session progressed.

American Can, which started the day at 101, forged ahead to 109 1-2 in the final period. United States Steel sold up from its opening price of 160 1-8 to 166. Atchinson, at the head of the rails, moved up 6 points to 218 1-2. American and Foreign Power moved up about 5 points and General Electric gained 7.

WHAT THE SMART NEW YORK WOMAN IS WEARING

This, indeed, is to be a fur season. There are lavishly trimmed coats, dresses with fur borders or bows and, for the first time in many years, fur trimmed hats. Many of the smart imported coats shown in Fifth avenue shops are enhanced with the following furs: fox, galyak, breitschwanz and the soft, curlier caracul. In many instances the cloth coats are trimmed with flat furs like galyak, caracul and baby seal. A new idea is exploited in the cuffs of some of these coats. They are tight about the wrist and for three inches above, then flared and are again caught just below the elbow. Four interesting models are sketched.

Police Investigate Bicycle Thefts

The police authorities are engaged in investigating a number of bicycle thefts reported in the past twenty-four hours.

Harry Baron of 123 Edison avenue, reported Monday that his World bicycle had been stolen from his garage.

Mott Hyde of 1201 Wilmington avenue, reported that some unknown person had entered his garage last night and stripped his boys bicycle.

Roy Jamison of 134 Sheridan avenue, reported Monday that some one had entered his garage and stolen a DeLux bicycle from that place.

Harold Strong of 314 North Mill street, reported this morning that his bicycle which had been locked on the rear porch had been stolen. It was later reported found.

Marino Completes Lions Club Series

Address Today Marks Close Of Talks On "Our Civilization, Its Development"

Anthony Marino of this city, a former Professor at Ohio State University spoke for the second time on "Our Civilization, Its Origin and Development" before the New Castle Lions club at noon. The message today dealt with the development of civilization about the time of the dark ages and Renaissance.

In a previous talk Marino had described history up until the time of Alexander.

Two representatives of the Senior Hi-Y club were present at today's meeting and announced the coming Older Boys' conference, asking the members to open their homes to as many delegates as it is possible. The club will assist the boys.

Learn Of Goitres From Lowly Tadpole

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Now they're learning about goitre from pollywogs!

Citizens accustomed to seeing small boys corral tadpoles were amazed some time ago to see numerous "grown men" in quest of the amphibians.

Investigation revealed that hundreds of pollywogs swimming in glass tanks at the University of California Hooper medical foundation here were being studied by medico-scientists for secrets that might be revealed about cause and cure of goitre, developed through abnormality of the thyroid gland.

Addition to the fund of medical knowledge about goitre is hopefully anticipated.

Much has been learned about reaction of goitre poison, it was revealed, although exact and definite findings are not ready.

Cells of goitres taken from human sufferers have been fed to the tadpoles, and changes in growth of the tadpoles closely scrutinized. Interesting results are noted from new applications of iodine treatments.

Robbery Attempt Reported To Police

Police were called to the plant and office of the Kline Lumber company, South Beaver street, Monday to investigate an alleged attempt to break into the place on the night of November 17th. Detective John Young and Officer Lynch investigated and found some broken glass strewn about also some indications that some windows had been broken out of the planning mill.

N. Y. May Abolish Fourth Felony Law

(International News Service)
ALBANY, Nov. 19.—Repeal of the fourth offender felony law will be urged at the 1930 session of the state legislature.

Under this statute, judges are compelled to mete out life sentences to criminals who have been four times convicted of a felony.

Upwards of 35 persons have been sent to prisons in this state for life since this law was placed on the statute books four years ago. It was sponsored by the Baumes crime commission.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt recently pardoned a man who had been sent to prison for life as a fourth felony offender. He had been convicted each time for forgery, committed, the governor said, while he was under the influence of liquor.

Paris Had Negro Jazz Band In 1793

(International News Service)
PARIS, Nov. 19.—Negro jazz-bands were among the attractions of the 600 dance halls in Paris during the Terror of 1793 according to an English writer, D. B. Wyndham Lewis who is of the opinion that the old French airs of the 17th and 18th centuries were the basis of the syncopated melodies to be heard on every radio these days.

The negroes came from the French colonies in Africa adopting the gallant old chansons to their own rhythm and thus jazz was born.

A New York man was ejected from a night club recently for insulting the hostess. He probably was a tightwad.

Boy Tenor Will Sing For Hoover

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—President Hoover will hear his favorite song sung by Master Billy Lennon, boy tenor discovered this summer by Tito Schipa, the opera star, in a few weeks when Billy makes a phonograph record exclusively for the President.

The 14-year-old high school boy offered Mr. Hoover a recording of his favorite song, as a gift. The President wrote that he would be glad to accept, so it only awaits Billy's finding out what Mr. Hoover's favorite song is, for the deal to go through.

Billy made his debut this summer in the Hollywood Bowl as soloist with the symphony orchestra.

Victor and Vanquished in Mexican Presidential Race

The Presidential campaign in Mexico this year did not lack of the color of former years, inasmuch as it was marked by violent riots and much bloodshed. Latest reports indicate that Pascual Rubio (left) has been declared victor by an overwhelming majority over his opponent, Jose Vasconcelos (right).

Happy doesn't expect the waves to part and let him cross on the channel bottom, so he has constructed a pair of "water shoes," which he guarantees will enable him to tread on the waves. He says he has had many strolls on the streams surrounding Canton and also adds that the shoes should prove invaluable aids to fishermen who wish "to sneak up on fish."

PUPILS HAVE STRANGE HOLIDAY

Two perfectly good school buildings stand side by side in the mining town of Ayrshire, Ind. The only thing wrong with them is the fact that no pupils attend. During the past summer the state board of health condemned the buildings as unfit for use. So, when school opened, the children failed to enroll. However, Miss Aurice Van Laningham, hired to teach the first four grades, by the township, and Guy Barrett, principal, hired to teach the upper four grades, report for duty each morning and remain until four o'clock. These conditions are likely to prevail all term, it is said, unless state authorities compel the children to go to school.

Train Baby To New Diet By Degrees

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Many baby doctors now advise the mother to feed the baby certain vegetables very early. Wouldn't our grandmothers have been surprised at seeing a baby six months old eating spinach, beets or carrots? "You will kill that child," they would probably have exclaimed.

Our grandmothers did not have some of the problems of the mother of today. She rarely heard of eating problems. She and her little child avoided some of the current agonies we know about.

But we also do not want to go back to the days of our forebears. We know more than they did about what the baby needs to eat.

When you introduce the baby to solid foods, start right. Don't be in haste. Remember that the infant has been accustomed to liquid diet only. If you put a morsel, say, of carrot mash into his mouth, he may be surprised and may spit it out. Some child specialists show you how to avoid this surprise by having you give him some broth of carrot in milk from the bottle, adding it very, very gradually.

No matter whether through milk or directly from a spoon, present but little of it at first. If from a spoon, be satisfied if the baby, on the first experience with carrot, say, does not object as the spoon—whose tip is merely touched by the mash—is put between his lips and teeth. Next time let the spoon contain an amount no larger than a pea. If by the third or fourth feeding the child welcomes a quarter of a teaspoonful, you have done well. But don't go on with carrots. Vary it with one or several other vegetables, such as beets or spinach.

As a rule the mother expects the child to eat a goodly portion from the start, and if he does not offer too much resistance she goes on pushing it into him. She is tempted, also, to give him the same vegetables at succeeding meals. If he smacks his lips, liking it, she may give him far too much. Better to give him too little than a mite too much.

Push food into the child one moment past the point when his appetite has been satisfied, and you are in danger of developing a dislike for it. Exactly what would happen to you. No matter how much the doctor or the books say he should have in these early stages, keep your mind on having him take such amount in the future and arrive at it by very slow degrees. Be in haste, now; give the baby too much, force vegetables into him, arouse his antagonism, let yourself get a little anxious, and ahead of you and the child may be months and years of grief.

As soon as the child can hold a spoon, say between six months and a year, set the food before him. Show him how to use the spoon and go away. If he uses his bare hands, very well. He will get some of the food in his mouth, some probably in his ears, and some elsewhere. The activity is enjoyable, making the food pleasant, too. And he won't take more than he wants. No such means to cultivate the baby's appetite as to let him feed himself as soon as possible.

Tomorrow: Beets, Carrots, Spinach and Monkeys.

tion In Further Probe

(International News Service)
FLINT, Mich., Nov. 19.—Further prosecution of former officers and employees of the Union Industrial bank hinged Monday on the findings of State Bank Examiner Leon D. Rose.

Rose was expected to start work on the bank's books again Monday, following his week-end visit to Lansing. Prosecutor Beagle, who Friday issued warrants charging six of the discharged employees with exchequerment in connection with the theft of $3,592,000 from the bank, is ready to issue more warrants as soon as Rose, who signed the six warrants, supplies him with the necessary information. This may be today or later in the week, the prosecutor said.

Government Costs Less This Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The expenditures of the government in the first four months of the 1930 fiscal year were $1,324,296,000, a decrease of $114,000,000 due to smaller operations in connection with the sinking fund, a treasury department statement announced today.

Man Of 71 Tells Of His Remarkable Experience With This New And Different Medicine.

MR. FRANK CASNER

"At seventy-one I began to fear that my age was against me; for everything that I tried had failed utterly to relieve the kidney trouble and constipation with which I had suffered for years," said Mr. Frank Casner, of Gap, Penna. "Every night I had to get up quite frequently, and the loss of sleep told heavily on my general condition. I had to take laxatives all the time and these did me no good."

"Konjola lost no time in getting to the root of my troubles. In just three weeks a complete change came over me. The night-rising ceased; the back pains left, and long before the three bottles of Konjola were taken the chronic constipation was ended. I'll say that Konjola is a master medicine. Konjola is sold in New Castle, Pa. at Love & Megown drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

It is always SUMMER-TIME in your KITCHEN

IT'S always summer-time in your kitchen. It's never cool where there is a stove. And the dangers of food contamination are present as long as the temperature in your refrigerator can rise above fifty degrees.

Faithfully, quietly, automatically the General Electric gives you the perfect refrigeration that safeguards health. It makes plenty of ice cubes, operates without ever needing to be oiled, creates no radio interference. And it has an accessible freezing regulator. Important, too, is the fact that it is the only refrigerator which has an all-steel cabinet—"built like a safe."

More than 350,000 homes are enjoying the economy, convenience and health-guarding service of General Electric Refrigerators . . . and not one owner has spent a dollar for any kind of repairs or service.

Come in and examine the various models—there's a size and style to fit your needs and your kitchen. Just a small down payment can put a General Electric Refrigerator in your home.

CHOOSE YOUR OWN PROVING GROUND -MAKE YOUR OWN TESTS

IT'S A FAIR guess that you have special tests by which you like to measure an automobile's ability, and certain places where you'd like to apply these tests—a favorite "proving ground" of your own.

And so confident are we of Oldsmobile's ability to pass any tests that we want you to take an Oldsmobile and put it through the most grueling examination you can.

Drive it over the longest, steepest hill you can find. Drive it through deep, stubborn sand that calls for extra reserves of stamina and power. Test its acceleration by starting from scratch with the rest when the traffic signal says "Go." Then drive it on the open road. Put its accelerator clear down to the floor board—if you care to travel so fast—see how quickly it reaches the higher figures—how easily and steadily it maintains its pace.

After you have judged Oldsmobile's performance, try its riding comfort and roadability. Drive it over rough, bumpy roads, such as you would ordinarily go out of your way to avoid. Notice how its long, flexible springs, four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, and wide, deep-cushioned seats enable you to relax with perfect ease.

Then try Oldsmobile's ease of handling in the thickest downtown traffic. Note how readily it responds to the lightest touch on the brake pedal—how easy it is to turn and park.

These tests, and any others you wish to make, will acquaint you with the thoroughbred qualities of this fine Oldsmobile. Come in today and examine the car. Then drive it yourself and make your own tests over your favorite "proving ground."

Col. Lindbergh Suffers Injury

Is Being Treated By Physician For Injury To Shoulder; No Details Divulged

(International News Service)
ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 19.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is being treated for a shoulder injury.

Dr. Walter Phillips, an Englewood physician, revealed today he was treating the famous flyer but declined to tell any details.

It was assumed the colonel is staying at the home of his father-in-law, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, but the Morrow home refused all information regarding the colonel.

Whether the injury to the colonel was suffered in a recent accident or a recurrence of the pain from the shoulder injury suffered in the Mexico City accident before his marriage could not be learned.

The office of Dr. Phillips merely reports:

"Col. Lindbergh is being treated for a slight shoulder injury."

Colonel Lindbergh failed apparently to inform any of his associates concerning the injury. He talked with several friends over the telephone today it was learned but he failed to say anything about being incapacitated.

When Lindbergh was in Mexico City soon after his engagement to Anne Morrow was announced he took his fiancée for an airplane ride. When he landed one of the wheels of the landing gear came off and the machine turned over on its back after a ground loop. Miss Morrow escaped injury but the colonel suffered a bruise on the shoulder. He carried one arm in a sling for sometime after the crash.

The accident failed to dampen his love of flying to any extent because

Mystery Solved
ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 19.—Mystery which surrounded reports that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had been treated for an injury to his right shoulder was solved today with the revelation that he underwent an X-ray examination at the Englewood hospital Sunday because of recurring sharp pains in the member.

The colonel gave the impression, it was said, that the pains resulted from the dislocation of the shoulder he suffered February 28 last at Valbuena aerodrome, Mexico City, when his plane made a hazardous landing.

The pictures will be ready tomorrow for the view of Col. Lindbergh and Dr. Walter Phillips of Englewood, who attended him.

Col. Lindbergh spent last evening in New York with his wife, the former Anne Morrow, and showed no sign of being indisposed.

Book Exhibits Are At Library

"Book Week" Is Observed At Free Public Library With Exhibition Of Best Books

All this week, from coast to coast, the libraries and the book stores are showing their best books, especially for children.

The local library is in the procession. It is expected that many persons will visit the library this week to see both exhibits, adult and juvenile.

The library has some copies of a graded list called The Bookshelf for Boys and Girls, which offers splendid suggestions for books for all ages.

Nursery rhyme to grown-up time. They're cheap as well as sumptuous editions. The library does not sell these books but will gladly tell you how to get them.

Whether you are a father or a mother, an uncle or an aunt, a teacher or a preacher, or a lover of children or of books, you should see the exhibits at the library which will be continued all this week.

New Yorkers are to be invited to select the worst noise in a list of twenty-six that plague city dwellers. Our choice will be the noise that ensues when city dwellers attempt to decide upon the worst noise. The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Saturday may be just November 23 to you, but to the members of the Veterans Association of the Pennsylvania Railroad, it means a lot more than that. It means the annual get together of the organization, the annual feed, the annual handshakes and friendly contacts, the annual fellowship.

Back in 1921 it was the idea of a number of the old timers that it wouldn't be a bad idea to have an annual affair of such a nature, and the Veterans Association was formed. Rank and title were forgotten and service was the only thing considered. A man who had spent thirty years in the section gang was more of a veteran than the chap who had spent 20 years in the superintendent's office.

Every year the banquet has been getting bigger and better, and every year it has been my pleasure to be a guest there. And aside from the fact that it is an unusual sort of meeting, they put out just about the slickest turkey dinner in eight states.

There's a new game being played, "automobile billiards". The idea of the game is to skill your car off cars parked at the curb with every hit counting points. Hitting one car counts as a "woop". Two cars is a "glinker", three cars is a "sizzer" and four cars is a "grand gazam".

A lad scored a grand gazam last night on Washington street. He was driving down between East and Mill streets when a car pulled out from the curb. The street was wet and the lad driving went into a tail spin trying to avoid hitting anybody. He tagged one car, caromed off and smacked another, did another carom and ripped two more. For a time the street sounded like a political convention.

Fortunately no one was hurt, but a lot of feelings were badly soiled. And considerable language was given a thorough airing.

A copy of the "Great Northern Goat" has come to this desk, and I hope there is no personal reference in the name of the little magazine. It happens to be an organ of the Great Northern Railroad, if you must know, with a couple of paragraphs pencilled. This little poem was pointed out for special mention and you can look it over yourself.

Now comes the month of frosty nights, and crisp but sunny days.

Of brightly colored leaves and shrubs, that glow through autumn's haze.

Vast streamers of aurora spread their gleaming lights on high—

Each elder thinks of winter's chill, but kids dream of pumpkin pie.

Much action in the kitchen shows, 'mid energetic puffing.

But all the youngsters know those signs mean turkey and its stuffing.

Each popcorn ear, or cider jug, makes all of us remember.

Regardless of the weather's state, the month is now November.

Some day I hope to get enough courage generated to wear spats.

Some of the boys are wearing them now, with a half dozen more on the ragged edge of indecision. To spat or not to spat, that is the question, with the answer up in the air.

There's something distinctive about spats. Just like a buck tooth or something. Whether you wear them for style, or just to keep your ankles warm is your own business, but there seems to be more and more demand for the trick articles of apparel.

There is one question I would like to ask some of the well dressed youths of the city. Do garters go with them?

Saw a lad in a hotel lobby the other evening who had on spats but who was wearing his socks in the approved collegiate fashion. Now I ask you.

And as for canes. Dearly, you really must have a cane. In the better circles, one feels positively half naked without a stick. The next time Davy Rees goes back to the other side, he is going to bring me a Piccadilly cane and a monocle.

Primitive Methodists Hear Mission Talk

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Maitland Primitive Methodist church will hear Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Furman, returned missionaries from Ecuador, South America, give an address on their work Thursday evening, November 21, at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. and Mrs. Furman have worked among the natives of South America and can give a lot of missionary information that will be real and all those who attend are assured of an instructive and stirring message.

Knows Rothstein's Slayer Former Police Head Says

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Reiterating his assertion that he knows who killed Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, Richard E. Enright, former New York City police commissioner, added the information today that he may soon voluntarily reveal the name of the slayer and show proof of his contention.

In an exclusive interview with International News Service here today the former New York police head ridiculed the placing on trial of George A. McManus on charges of murdering the underworld leader.

Enright recently arrived here for a brief vacation following his defeat as an independent candidate in the recent mayoralty elections in New York. During his campaign, he repeatedly asserted he knew the name of Rothstein's slayer, and charged in addition that the murderer's identity was common knowledge in New York political circles.

"The district attorney in New York thinks McManus is guilty, but just let him try and convict him," said Enright. "I am convinced he will be acquitted."

"But regardless of the outcome of the trial, I may eventually decide to give the name of the actual slayer, and furnish proof that my accusation is correct.

"OLD DEMOCRATIC IDEA"

Editor News, New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

The people under the Democratic condition made more progress in all the line of business and good-time. It looks like our tax system does not fit our modern days. The tax in the industrial city and county ought to find some way to base on what we make, not what we own. Everything we need, use like, and own they ought to be free from tax from zero up to any billion of dollars as real estate, bonds, stocks, and mortgages. The tax ought to be paid on what every individual makes in money; no matter where they are, where they come from or how they make the money.

Some of the people in the industrial city make as high as $12.00 a day, and don't pay tax because they don't own a home, or have a family. In some cases they are not citizens of U. That is not the real idea of the Democratic people who came here from Europe to pay tax on rich people to build the country up and let the poor people use it free. Shenango River Reaches High Point

Rains over the week end forced the Shenango River up over two feet during the past twenty-four hours, the water now being at a stage of 11 feet.

This is the highest point reached since the heavy rains during the early spring, but it is not believed that it will go much higher, due to the fact that the water spreads over the lowlands north of the city, inundating thousands of acres of farm land, and much water would be absorbed in this way.

A few more days of rain, however, would bring the river near the flood stage and damage would be caused in some of the low points in the city. The flood stage here is around 18 feet.

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Reiterating his assertion that he knows who killed Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, Richard E. Enright, former New York City police commissioner, added the information today that he may soon voluntarily reveal the name of the slayer and show proof of his contention.

In an exclusive interview with International News Service here today the former New York police head ridiculed the placing on trial of George A. McManus on charges of murdering the underworld leader.

Enright recently arrived here for a brief vacation following his defeat as an independent candidate in the recent mayoralty elections in New York. During his campaign, he repeatedly asserted he knew the name of Rothstein's slayer, and charged in addition that the murderer's identity was common knowledge in New York political circles.

"The district attorney in New York thinks McManus is guilty, but just let him try and convict him," said Enright. "I am convinced he will be acquitted."

"But regardless of the outcome of the trial, I may eventually decide to give the name of the actual slayer, and furnish proof that my accusation is correct.

"OLD DEMOCRATIC IDEA"

Editor News, New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

The people under the Democratic condition made more progress in all the line of business and good-time. It looks like our tax system does not fit our modern days. The tax in the industrial city and county ought to find some way to base on what we make, not what we own. Everything we need, use like, and own they ought to be free from tax from zero up to any billion of dollars as real estate, bonds, stocks, and mortgages. The tax ought to be paid on what every individual makes in money; no matter where they are, where they come from or how they make the money.

TOBIAS DEFEATS PETERS AT JOLLY BOWL

Scores Knockdown In Tenth Chapter

Up To Ninth Round Flyweights Stage Even Battle And Bout Is Pleasure To Watch; Referee Chip Right In Awarding Romeo Knockout Over Katkish; Hardy Wins In Punch; Jennings And Gaston Win Battles.

By ED. FRITZ

Enthusiastic fans of Jolly Bowl were treated to a full dinner of punch, class and speed last night when Phil Tobias, New York, and Ernie Peters, Chicago, flyweights, battled 10 rounds. A right sprawled Peters in the tenth. He got up without a count, fought Tobias viciously, but the knockdown was the deciding factor and Phil was given the decision. Judge Dunn voted in favor of Tobias, and as this was a split decision of Referee George Chip in favor of the New Yorker.

The fight was one of those affairs which fans read about but seldom see. In fact, it was a Madison Square Garden attraction with a small attendance. There were not as many knockdowns as there were in their first encounter, but this was due to Peters' fine physical condition. For nine rounds the fighting was even and class stuck out all over the flyweights, who tipped the scales at 113 1-4. Peters had a good defense against Phil's right hand and Tobias kept Ernie's left from doing any real damage.

Staggered at Times
During the first nine rounds they battled toe-to-toe at various times and each was staggered, but at no time was either near a knockout, not even Peters in the tenth when the knockdown occurred. They displayed a lot of class and speed, ringcraft and clever defense. It actually was a pleasure to see the two flyweights display what actually constitutes boxing, and no one left the arena dissatisfied with the main battle, which was one of the best encounters staged since Jolly Bowl was opened to the public.

Romeo Pacelli, 127, New Castle, knocked out Joey Katkish, 128 1/2, Pittsburgh, in the fifth of a scheduled six-round bout. Romeo had an edge throughout and as early as the second had Joey foggy. Katkish came back in the third, but in the fourth was rocked with a right to the jaw and in the fifth the New Castle lad dropped Katkish. Katkish had 10 counted over him, then leaped to his feet, but Referee Chip waved him to his corner.

Chip Absolutely Right
The crowd booed the referee, but Chip was absolutely correct. Katkish was down when 10 was counted, and according to the rules of boxing was out. According to the timekeeper he was on the floor 12 seconds and Deputy Commissioner Michael Kane agreed that Referee Chip had obeyed the rules. Katkish may have been fog-brained from the punch to the chin and may not have heard the count as clearly as he should, but that was not Chip's fault.

The big upset of the evening was the one-round knockout by Young Hardy, 128, Beaver Falls, over Paul Balint, 127, Pittsburgh. They commenced duelling at the bell and before the fight had gone half a minute the Beaver Falls fighter shot a right that landed on the point of Balint's chin and he fell heavily, his head hitting the floor of the ring, which has two inches of padding beneath the canvas. However, the punch, combined to the crashing of his head against the floor, made it impossible for Balint to get up and he was out when helped to his corner.

Jennings Beats Davis
Johnny Jennings, 135 1-2, this city, returned to the ring with his southpaw style and defeated Barney Davis, 135 1-2, Cleveland, in a four-round battle. He dropped Davis in the second for nine and the bell ended the round. From then on it was Jennings' fight. In the first four rounds—two colored gladiators, Larry Gaston, Cleveland, 171 1-2, and Jim McVey, 170, Akron, milled. McVey passed out in the second.

The judges were local men, Dunn and Jones, and George Chip was third man. Peter Capitola kept time and the bouts were supervised by Deputy Commissioner Mike Kane with the assistance of Larry Gent. Several fans of Pittsburgh and a crowd from Youngstown and surrounding cities attended the bouts, which were up to the Jolly Bowl standard. Rain which fell before and during the battle had a tendency to keep down the attendance.

Croton Defeats Union Alumni

Croton Wins Another Victory By Swamping Union Team 21 To 0

Croton A. C. football team today remains undefeated as a result of their 21-0 defeat of the Union high alumni team on Monday afternoon at the Scotland Lane field.

Corr and Kirk featured for the Unionites, while Sowards, Grimes and Coluccia were the outstanding stars for the winners. The Crotonites are after the independent championship of Lawrence county, having never been defeated this season. In two weeks they will play the strong South Side Bulldogs eleven for the championship of Lawrence county. The Bulldogs, like the Croton team, have just to taste defeat. The Bulldogs recently handed the West Pittsburgh eleven a trimming, which boosts their season wins higher.

NOTHING SEEMS TO BE WORTH ANYTHING NOW

All-American Prospects

Starting with ends only those who pick so-called All-American football teams will find themselves confronted with scores of "best wingmen ever" from various parts of the nation. Each section has its favorite ends. If one were to select 12 "first All-Americans" there would still be roars of disapproval and argument from the admirers of those left off such mythical teams. The Sport Bug features here a few All-American prospects; if space permitted, many others could be pictured with equal justice.

Vernon "Catfish" Smith of Georgia was the first to shine in the national spotlight this season, thanks to his remarkable play against Yale in the first big intersectional. And "Catfish" has kept up that dazzling pace on defense, offense, pass-receiving and kicking. Yet thousands of grid fans in the south will swear that Jones of Georgia Tech, Woodruff of Clemson, Dalrymple of Tulane, Van Sickle of Florida, Nutter of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Bates of Western Maryland, etc., are just as great as "Catfish" if not greater.

California's magnificent end—"Bob" Norton—was another fortunate in that he had a chance to star in an early season intersectional when the Golden Bears clawed Penn at Philadelphia. Norton has all the attributes of an ideal end. But on the Pacific coast, Stanford men will tell that their "Mush" Muller is Norton's superior. St. Mary's supporters rhapsodize over Eeking, and Oregon State has Russ Striff to mention but few of the coast's wing wizards.

If a big consensus of coaches and sport scribes could be taken at this writing, it would not surprise the Sport Bug if Fesler of Ohio State and Donchess of Pittsburgh got pluralities for first All-American 1929 ends. Both were extraordinary last season and now they are better than before. In 1928 both got general All-American recognition and they certainly seem to be living up to their exalted reputation.

Fesler, Ohio State's ace end, was rather well boxed at times when Pittsburgh's truly great team beat the Buckeyes, 18 to 2, on Nov. 2. The Panthers assigned two stars to take care of the agile Wes. While such expert vigilance curbed Fesler noticeably, he was able to show enough consideration in a game which revealed like qualities on the part of Donchess, Pitt's remarkable end.

On the same day at New Haven, Conn., some hitherto unsung Yale wingmen were giving dazzling exhibitions in competition with Dartmouth's famed Boona and Yudeky. Helped by Albie Booth's lofty punts, Berres, Hickok, McEwen and Godman were blue streaks down the field, tackling fiends and almost impossible to turn on sweeps.

California's Bob Norton is a coast favorite for national honors—indeed, it may be noted, it would be impossible to convince the partisans supporting any notable team that at least one of their ends is not of All-American caliber. The Sport Bug mentions but a few worthies. Unquestionably there are fully a score of others meriting like consideration.

Kearns May Aid Dempsey's Rival

Revival Of Dempsey-Kearns Feud May Flare Forth In Chicago

REPORT SAYS KEARNS WILL HELP HARMON

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—According to the word hereabouts today, Jack Kearns, who is said to have made Dempsey the man he was, now intends to see what can be done about making Dempsey the man he is going to be. Mr. Kearns, they say, is about to tie up with Paddy Harmon in Chicago and begin promoting in opposition to Max Schmeling, just to be congenial and harmonious and clubby. I think clubby is really the word I want. Mr. Kearns undoubtedly would like to get very clubby with Mr. Dempsey—provided the clubs are no smaller than the average piano leg. Thus it seems that the fires of the now-ancient feud are due to be rekindled.

Our John, the boy friend, will not like Mr. Kearns coming in there and playing the game from the opposite side of the net. He has been promoting around Chicago just long enough to put on two or three shows that made him no money at all, hand over fist, and so far as he is concerned, if he never gets any more opposition, it will be premature, things have gone none too well for John since he stopped accepting purses and began giving them.

Hoffman Vs. Mariner.
John, by the way, arrived in town yesterday, promptly made a noise like a rubber heel and disappeared. In the old days, John couldn't disappear if he fell down a man hole but all he has to do now is step out on a crowded street and he is just another chip, bobbing around on the human tide of a great city. Such is life. There seems to be a minimum of interest in watching a former prize fighter promote.

The result of the young man's visit, to date, was the signing of George Hoffman to meet Les Mariner in Chicago on November 26.

I doubt whether John yet has learned the glad tidings about Kearns. The details, as I understand it, haven't been completed but the tentative program, it seems, calls for Kearns to buy a block of stock in Harmon's enterprise and operate as the latter's matchmaker. Nate Lewis has been handling the job on behalf of Mr. Harmon and all he has done so far is to beat Madison Square Garden out of a lot of good matches, the recent Mandell McLarrin affair among them. Harmon, of course, doesn't need a matchmaker. He needs Mr. Kearns.

He "Promotes" Promoters.
The latter never has been anybody's mugg around this comical racket but the money he got—and still has—was promoted out of promoters, so to speak. It was guaranteed money, not gambling money. He was willing to take the first $100,000 that came in and let the promoter spend the rest in getting a shave and a haircut. Mr. Kearns being big about things like that. However, I understand that he has been dallying with the notion that he might be the nation's gift to boxing promotion, particularly since Rickard's death. The Harmon tie-up, if consummated, wouldn't be a bad one at all.

In fact, it would be so much better than this that John Dempsey may decide that it is altogether too good for downright comfort.

The Republican regulars are learning that there really is an if in tariff.—Jackson County, N. C. Journal

Keeps Boundin' Back

Risko is rightly called "the ring's rubber man"—a bounding battler who just won't stay licked and who, by stopping Jim Maloney of Boston recently, put himself in a position again to legitimately challenge Jack Sharkey or any other heavyweight "big shot."

About a year ago flaccid experts thought Max Schmeling had ended Risko's "big time" career when the German scored a technical but highly convincing knockout of Johnny in the ninth round of a lively Madison Square Garden bout. Seemingly the Cleveland had been slipping prior to that Schmeling defeat. It was generally conceded that Risko was "through" when he couldn't even stay ten rounds with the comparatively inexperienced Max.

However, that sharp Schmeling setback seems to have given Risko a new lease of fighting life. It aroused the good-natured Cleveland from his indifference towards training that had accounted so much for slipping form. In all his experience as a boxing manager, Danny Dunn says he never saw a fighter work so hard and so consistently as Risko is doing to get at least one more big chance.

That bounding baker boy once boxed Sharkey out of the chance to meet the then Champion Gene Tunney. Risko clearly outpointed the Gob on that occasion, and while Sharkey has shown marvelously improved form since then, the Rubber Man would like nothing better than another set-to with the ex-sailor.

A few years ago when Risko was a checking such comers as Sharkey, the Maloney, Von Porat, Paulino, etc., in

"Kandy Kids" Are Reorganized For Winter Floor Season

The Wampum "Kandy Kids" have reorganized for the 1929-30 basketball season and in all probability will have one of the fastest teams ever in Wampum.

The team has been strengthened by the addition of four new players Bill Shiek of Meadville, "Skinny" Henon of Ellwood, "Fonse" Demark and "Stew" Roberts of Wampum. The balance of the team consists of Boone, White, McKim, Allen and Aiello, who made up this team during the last season.

George Patterson formerly of the "Castle 5" of New Castle has been secured to coach the team and reports splendid results. The team is strictly a junior team, all players being between the ages of 17 and 20. The team has been made possible by the liberal donations and according to the players can mean only a winning combination.

A game for Thanksgiving night would like to be arranged either at home or abroad. Any teams desiring games can do so by getting in touch with Manager Paul W. Sturgeon, P. O. box 276 Wampum Pa., or by Bell telephone 145 any evening at 7 o'clock.

YALE HEAVY FAVORITE AS ELI MEETS HARVARD FOR 48TH TIME

Yale sweeps into what is, after all, the gridiron classic of them all—the Yale-Harvard tilt—a pronounced favorite. Yale has a strong, powerful line and a backfield made brilliant by the sensational quarterback, Albie Booth. However, Harvard's faculty of upsetting great Yale teams is traditional. Chamber Sponsors Christmas Holiday Celebration Here

Large Community Tree To Be Center Of Activities This Year As Formerly
Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 19.—At a meeting of the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce which met this morning in the Chamber headquarters in the First National Bank building, it was decided to do away with a parade this Christmas, but to concentrate activities on the community tree which will be erected as usual on the lawn in front of the Central building.

Small decorated trees will be placed in front of the stores on Lawrence avenue, adding much to the spirit of the Christmas holidays. The abolishing of the parade does not mean that the children will be cheated out of a treat, for the merchants will give out the candy under the large tree a few days before Christmas, date to be decided later.

The merchants also discussed the ticket-selling menace. An agreement was reached some time ago whereby the division decided not to permit merchants to be solicited for tickets to local plays and entertainments. They decided at this morning's meeting to enforce that agreement and to fine any merchant disobeying same. Various committees will be appointed to work out further plans for the Christmas holidays, which promises to be more brilliant than ever this year.

Mother Trying To Get Possession Of House From Son

Case Of Samantha M. Boots Against Samuel C. Boots
On Trial At Court

Ejectment action brought by Mrs. Samantha M. Boots against her son, Samuel C. Boots, and daughter-in-law, Lulu Boots, to secure possession of a property in Ellwood City, is being heard before Judge Hildebrand in county court today.

Mrs. Samantha M. Boots, who is around 80 years of age, is the widow of James D. Boots. Under the will of her husband she was left a life interest in the property in question, with the right to consume the principal should it become necessary.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Boots is said to have made an agreement with her son and daughter-in-law whereby they were to move into her house. She was to retain one room and they were to have the balance and provide meals for Mrs. Boots.

This arrangement was continued for some time when, owing to friction, Mrs. Samantha Boots wanted to secure sole possession of her home. The defendants refused to move out, claiming that it was not in accordance with the agreement made and further alleging that they had faithfully performed their part of the agreement.

Mrs. Samantha Boots left the house and is now trying to get possession of it again.

Rev. L. J. Baker Talks To Club On Character

W. Ray Smith Heads Nominating Committee For Official Election

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 19.—Rev. L. J. Baker of the Trinity Lutheran church spoke to the Kiwanis Club Monday evening on "The House of Character". The occasion was the weekly dinner-meeting of the club in the dining room of the Lutheran church. He pointed out that people can guard their material homes with fire insurance, etc., but it is so much more important to safeguard the character throughout one's early life.

"Klutch" Holds False Teeth Tight

Klutch forms a comfort cushion; holds the plate so snug it can't rock, drop, chafe or "be played with."

You can eat and speak as well as you did with your own teeth. A $5.00 box gives three months of unbelievable comfort. At all druggists.—Adv.

THE NEW PACKARD STANDARD EIGHT

the most popular Packard in history

THE NEW Packard Standard Eight is the most complete and luxurious car offered at anywhere near its price in the truly fine car field.

Sales, since its introduction in mid-September, prove it the most popular motor car Packard has ever built. This is but natural. The new Standard Eight cars are outstandingly more advanced, more beautiful, more comfortable and convenient than even the higher-priced Packard Eights of the past.

Truly a Packard—Throughout

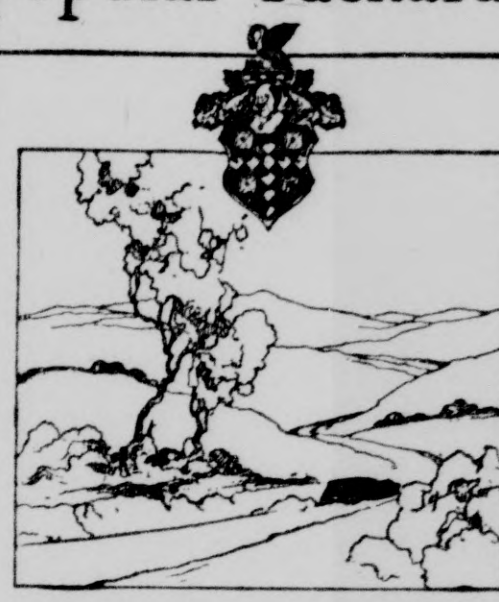

The Packard Standard Eight is literally a smaller edition of today's larger and costlier Packard cars. It is provided for those who desire the luxury and distinction of Packard Eight transportation in a car of modified wheelbase, and at more moderate price.

The Standard Eight differs from the Packard Custom and De Luxe models in size, power and degree of individuality available in color, upholstery and appointments—but in excellence of engineering and expert craftsmanship it is identical with them.

It embodies all the engineering refinements and improved incidental comforts and conveniences found in the larger cars—provides the brilliant performance and supreme riding ease logically expected from cars bearing the Packard crest.

Newly Refined and Improved

Chief among the engineering advances is the improved powerplant with its four-speed transmission and still further refined straight-eight engine. Body refinements include improved vision pillars; adjustable sun-visors; newly perfected shatter-proof glass; dashboard lockers; adjustable steering gear and driver's seat; and new beauties in fixtures and upholstery.

Visit our show rooms at your earliest opportunity and inspect the distinguished new Standard Eights. Then let us put the model of your choice in your hands for a luxurious demonstration drive.

Two out of three who buy Packard Standard Eights give up other makes of cars to do so. They have found that Packard transportation costs no more. We can show you with actual figures that you, too, can enjoy the distinction of Packard ownership at no greater expense than you are paying for motoring in your twelve to fifteen hundred dollar car.

Your old car will be accepted as cash and you may purchase out of income if you prefer. When may we serve you?

NEW YORK STOCKS

Small Volume Of Sales In Stock Market Today

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Despite the confident feeling in business and financial circles, stocks slipped off to lower price levels in all sections of the market at the beginning of trading today, in continuation of Monday's moderate downward movement. It was assumed that there was considerable profit-taking on stocks purchased at last week's low prices yet to be accomplished, though the small volume of sales in the first period was proof that there was little stock "overhanging the market." Stock sales in the first half hour totaled 335,000 shares, about 20 per cent as much as in some of last week's raging sessions.

It was announced officially that the president's conference with railroad heads will take place as originally scheduled, despite the death of the secretary of war. It is also the intention of the president to push forward the federal building projects in order to stimulate activity in the construction industry.

Most of the active industrial and specialty stocks made their low prices of the day at the opening, and climbed gradually to slightly higher levels. United States Steel sold up about a point at 161½; Radio up 1½; American Can up 2; Westinghouse up 2½ and American and Foreign Power up 1½. These moderate swings of the market's most famous high-steppers were regarded as evidence that the stock market had been brought back to normal conditions. The call loan renewal rate was posted at a 5 per cent, also a favorable sign from the money standpoint.

Industrial stocks improved their market position in the second hour, as the volume of trading slowed down and the ticker practically caught up with the market. American Can led a brilliant forward move of the popular industrials and sold up 4 points from the opening at 105, United States Steel returned to 162, up 2 points from Monday's close and numerous market favorites passed moderately above yesterday's final prices.

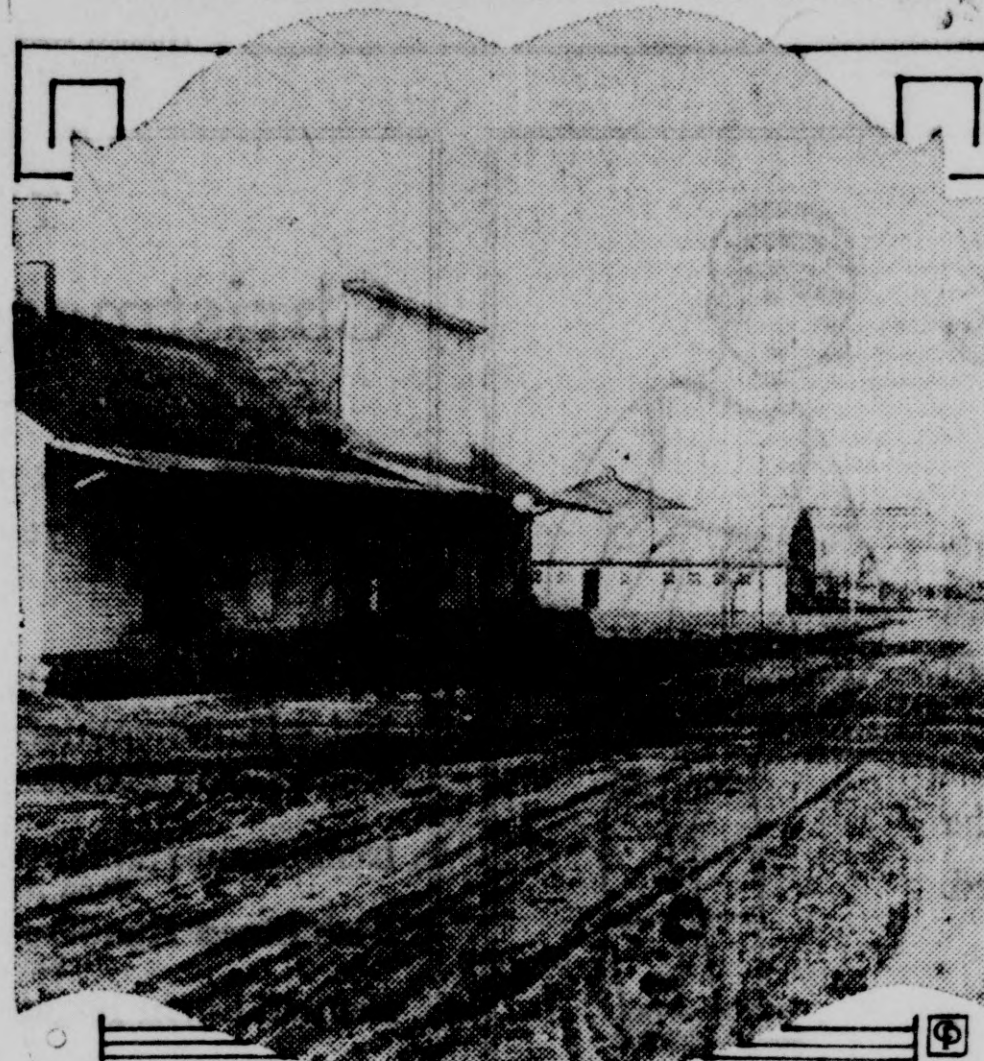

Business and Industrial reports were generally favorable and commodity markets steady, with cotton up 8 points.

Huge Quantity Of Stamps For Holiday Mail

Over Two Million And Quarter Stamps For Holiday
Business

STAMP SALES HERE SHOWING INCREASE

Two million and a quarter of the four billion postage stamps which the postal department in Washington will provide for its various offices throughout the country this Christmas season will be required by the New Castle branch alone. Assistant Postmaster J. G. Leslie revealed today.

These same stamps coupled with the special request stamped envelopes which local business houses will use represents an aggregate of $92,151 in Christmas quarter stamp supplies the official added.

While a close inspection of postoffice books revealed today that local requisitions for Christmas stamp supplies last year exceeded this year's slightly it indicates not one iota that officials fear the mailing business will fall off somewhat. In fact it represents the opposite and the New Castle office is anticipating just as heavy a season this year as in 1928.

Figures perused this morning show that a considerable amount of the 1928 Christmas stamp order remained when the holiday rush was over and while postal authorities here have no desire of running short of stamps they have only to consult last year's figures which plainly point out that not so many will be needed.

To offset pessimism that mailing this Christmas will suffer because of the recent Wall street debacle are the figures for sales of stamps and stamped envelopes in October this year in comparison with the corresponding month of 1928.

During this month last year a total of $13,788.23 were listed while a total of $14,681.49 sales were made last month. While the percentage increase is not outstanding it reflects the true trend of business as far as stamp sales go.

Two cent stamps the most popular denomination naturally is the kind for which the greatest order has been placed. This season there will be 1-146,800 of these; 123,289 of one-cent stamps; 31,800 of four-cent stamps; 31,400 of five-cent stamps, 27,400 of ten cent stamps and other stamps in proportion to their popular use.

Postoffices throughout the country place their orders for quarters and not for the Christmas season alone.
The Christmas period including October, November and December naturally is when requisitions are the largest. A large percentage of stamps and other supplies ordered for the closing 90 days period of any year is used during the Christmas period.

The stamps ordered will not be sent until later.

Robbery Gang Member Taken

(International News Service)
RIVERSIDE, Cal., Nov. 19.—Confessing membership in the gang that preperated the Southern Pacific train wreck and robbery last week, a man who gave his name as Lester Mead, 30, was under arrest here today.
Mead refused to reveal the names of two men whom he said pulled the actual robbery. He said his part in the robbery was limited to loosening the rails and then driving the automobile in which the robbers escaped.
Mead, according to authorities, admitted he was under the influence of narcotics when he aided in the hold-up.

Petition Court To Adopt Child

Mr. and Mrs. Sebastino Di Cola of 224 Hawthorne street, presented a petition to court today asking leave to adopt Maria Angela Mastrolanni, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Di Cola. The mother of the child is dead, and the father, who lives in Pittsburgh, has consented to the adoption. Judge Hildebrand ordered a hearing on December 4.

A sweeping assertion must be the kind that throws dust in the other fellow's eyes.

Nearly 1400 Passengers Ride Elevator In Day

It may be wrong to say that the elevator in the Lawrence Savings and Trust building carries the largest number of persons in a business day, but actual counts of those who are conveyed in this particular elevator show that it might be hard for other buildings to lay claim to this distinction.

All day Monday Jas. Greer the rusty haired operator who greets every customer with a smile as they enter his L. S. and T. cab, took count of those he hauled from downstairs up or those from the seventh down. He missed none.

From 7 a. m. until 5 p. m. the business hours "Jim" hauled 1,185 persons and when the night shift operator finished for the day at 10 p.
m. the indicator revealed a total of 1,350 carried that day. At 11:30 a.
m. 431 had been conveyed, at 3:30 the indicator tipped a thousand.

The busiest hours of the day are between 11 and 12 o'clock Greer said.
"Jim" is continuing his count for several days.

Agreement On Auto Case Is Reached At Court Today

Verdict by agreement was taken before Judge Hildebrand this morning in the case of Harry E. Vitril, by his parents, Anthony and Sadie Vit-ril against the Pennzoil company.
The case is one in which Harry E.
Vitril who lives with his parents at Newport was struck by an automobile driven by E. L. Johnson, in the employ of the Pennzoil company.

Johnson was driving from Wampump to New Castle, and Harry E. Vi-tril was crossing the road when struck.
The road was wet and slippery at the time.

Under the verdict Harry E. Vitril was awarded $129 and his parents, $320.25.

Pastor Sees Jazz As Aid To Church

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Jazz music with some of its modern tendencies can be a distinct aid to the church, the Rev. J. Pierce Newall pastor of one of the largest churches in Chicago believes.

"There are over 10,000 gilded halls where jazz reigns and no preacher will ever be heard" he said. "Jazz reaches approximately 39,000,000 people that the church will not affect."

"So it is that smile songs and songs about rainbows around shoulders have great opportunities for doing good."

"The line about 'Mary and me and the baby make three' and happy homes are all doing good. They discourage companionate marriage and tend to unite homelife."

"People who dance all night are too tired to go to church. But if jazz music brings ideals to their head that the church tries to teach then jazz music is accomplishing good."

Italy's position, it begins to appear, is that it is willing to permit the other powers to disarm.—Dayton Journal.

Secretary Of State Issues Proclamation On Death Of Good

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A proclamation calling national attention to the death of Secretary of War James W. Good was issued today by Secretary of State Stimson.

The cabinet officer's death was referred to as "a national bereavement" and all government departments and agencies were ordered closed tomorrow until 1 p. m., with the flags on government property to be half-masted until after the burial services at Cedar Rapids on Friday.

The proclamation follows:
"To the people of the United States:
"James W. Good, secretary of war,

"Married Life" Not Worth While Blames Wives' "Nerves"

"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl who married. No wonder married life seems unbearable!

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady-nerved, radiant woman you once were. Try the effect of Tanlac after meals and before going to bed, and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you —doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

died in the city of Washington on the evening of Monday, November 18, at 37 minutes after 8 o'clock. His death, a shocking sorrow to his friends is to the people of the country a national bereavement. Attaining to a position of high trust in private life, energetic and conscientious in his relations with his fellow men, of a gentle, lovable and loyal nature, inspired by a large sense of the duties of a true citizen and winning the respect and esteem of all with whom he associated, he was called, in the fullness of his powers to discharge the duties of the peculiarly onerous and responsible office of secretary of war in which he served with such foresight and such loyal and lofty ideals as to confer lasting benefit to his country.
His career is an example for good citizens to follow.

"In respect to the memory of James W. Good, the president directs that on the day of the funeral services, Wednesday, November 20, the executive departments and their dependencies in the city of Washington be closed until 1 o'clock and that the national flag be displayed at half mast on all public buildings throughout the United States from now until the interment shall have taken place at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Friday noon.

"By direction of the president, signed Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state."

Valuation Cards Are Being Written

sessor are writing valuation card

only new property according to Mrs.

triennial assessment will not start until February 1, it was stated.

Foreign Class Taught How To Address Letters

Citizenship Papers Will Be Drawn By Night School
Students In A Short
Time

Foreigners who are enrolled in the Americanization classes, which meet in the Lincoln-Garfield school building every Monday and Wednesday nights, are being taught how to properly address envelopes. At this time in the year, it is of utmost importance that foreigners know the method of addressing envelopes, so as to insure the delivery of the letters and as an aid to the work of post office workers.
The class learning the ways of envelope addressing is the beginners class, taught by Peter Grittle.

Twenty-nine persons are now enrolled in Mr. Grittle's class. In the advanced class, taught by James Hughes, 32 persons are enrolled.

Monday evening, talks were given the students by two men from the Spanish-American War Veterans organization. The class lasted from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Moscow's Women Take To Red Hat

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Nov. 19.—Proletarian modistes have succeeded in creating their first popular fashion in women's clothes. It is a brilliant red beret which thousands of girls are wearing because they are cheap and chic. There has never been any real style creation like this before and this is merely a copy of a French mode of last year.

Hats have always been frowned upon as "bourgeois" and girls who wore made-over creations felt too compulsory. But the red beret is close to supplanting the red bandanna which all young Communist girls have worn heretofore.
No popular mode has yet been devised in women's clothes. Every woman copies from foreign and domestic fashion magazines to suit her taste.
